

National Taichung University of Science and Technology, College of Business
International Master of Business Administration in Intelligent Operations Program

Unlock your potential and connect with the latest industry trends through our exceptional learning environment and cutting-edge technology. Our Business School is home to 142 dedicated faculty members, including 45 professors, 61 associate professors, and 36 assistant professors, ensuring a rich and supportive educational experience for all students in our specialized program.

Facilities & Resources Highlights:

Specialized Learning Spaces: All our classrooms and specialized labs are equipped with digital multifunctional lecterns, complemented by professional software and hardware tools, ensuring both a professional and comfortable learning environment.

Advanced Classroom Technology: Our 'Business Intelligence Classroom' (7601) and 'Financial Technology Classroom' (7602) are designed to foster professional skills in business intelligence, big data analysis, and financial technology, linking students with key industry trends and capabilities. These include but are not limited to Cmoney, TEJ+, SQL Server, SPSS, SAP, EViews, AMOS, MATLAB, Anaconda (Python), MIT App Inventor Tools, R Studio, Tableau Business Intelligence software, Amazon Web Services, ERP systems, financial innovation digital fund teaching applications, algorithmic trading strategy platforms, and more.

National Taichung University of Science and Technology

Expert Faculty: Our program is supported by a robust team of professionals, offering students unparalleled expertise in their fields of study. For detailed information on our courses and faculty, please visit our website.

-Join Us and Step Into the Future of Business and Technology-

Embark on a journey of professional growth and innovation at the College of Business. Our state-of-the-art facilities and comprehensive support system provide the perfect foundation for your success in the dynamic fields of intelligent operations and business management. Connect with global industry trends and develop the critical skills needed for the future.

-Apply Now to Be Part of a World-Class Educational Experience-

For more information about our program and to explore our facilities, visit our admissions page or contact our office directly.

National Taichung University of Science and Technology

