Jennifer Storie, Secretary of the Senate, read the following communication:

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article VI, Section 2 of the Utah Constitution authorizes the President of the Utah Senate and the Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives to issue a joint proclamation convening the Utah Legislature in a special session when two–thirds of the members of the Senate and House of Representatives favor convening the Legislature into a special session because an emergency in the affairs of the state necessitates convening the Legislature into session; and

WHEREAS, a poll conducted by the President of the Utah Senate and the Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives determined that at least two–thirds of the members of the Utah Senate and at least two–thirds of the members of the Utah House of Representatives are in favor of convening the Legislature into a special session because of the COVID–19 emergency and the economic consequences of that emergency;

NOW, THEREFORE, we, J. Stuart Adams, President of the Utah Senate, and Brad R. Wilson, Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives, by the authority vested in us by the Utah Constitution, do by this joint proclamation, call the Sixty−Third Legislature of the State of Utah into a Sixth Special Session to be conducted electronically with the anchor location at the Utah State Capitol in Salt Lake City, Utah on the 20th day of August, 2020, at 10:00 a.m. to consider legislation:

1. making changes to the emergency drill requirements for certain educational facilities;

2. amending the qualifications to serve as the executive director of the Department of Health;

3. modifying provisions related to the regulation of tobacco retailers:

4. modifying the election process for the 2020 regular general election in response to the COVID−19 pandemic and modifying ballot harvesting provisions for all elections;

5. amending the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act to delay license renewal deadlines for certain retail licenses, to adjust the percentage of annual gross receipts from the sale of alcoholic products that a reception center licensee may maintain and what is included in that percentage, and to allow certain public service permittees to change location under certain conditions;

6. addressing issues related to public education funding and enrollment;

7. modifying provisions relating to community reinvestment agencies to provide an extension of the tax increment collection period for certain agencies impacted by COVID−19 and to allow agencies to provide assistance to certain small businesses negatively impacted by COVID−19;

8. enacting the Uniform Electronic Wills Act;

9. amending the income tax provisions to provide that forgiven loans and individual recovery rebates authorized by the federal government in response to COVID−19 are not subject to Utah income tax;

10. adjusting the fiscal year 2021 budget to address the COVID−19 emergency and its impacts and other budget issues;

11. addressing emergency powers and the state of emergency in response to the COVID−19 pandemic:

12. addressing issues related to online instruction provided by schools licensed under the Cosmetology and Associated Professions Licensing Act;

13. addressing the modification of jail sentences in a public health emergency;

14. addressing the inadequacy of the amount of federal government payments in lieu of taxes;

15. modifying the statutory provision regarding when a local referendum ballot question may be submitted to voters;

16. addressing issues related to the federal CARES Act and other federal legislation enacted in response to the COVID−19 pandemic, including modifying certain COVID−19 assistance and recovery programs created in the state that are using federal funding;

17. amending the maximum premium subsidy the Department of Health can request for the Utah Premium Partnership for Health Insurance program;

18. modifying the date by which the governor must submit an audited financial statement for the last fiscal year;

19. modifying application limit requirements for the Public Safety Officer Career Advancement Reimbursement Program;

20. that, except for rules and fees applicable to activities in counties of the first and second class, and for specific time periods and unless specified conditions are met, prohibits the Board and Division of Oil, Gas, and Mining, the Board and Division of Water Quality, and the Board and Division of Air Quality from: taking rulemaking action under Title 40, Mines and Mining, or related to water and air quality under Title 19, Environmental Quality Code; and imposing new fees or fee increases under Title 40, Mines and Mining, or related to water and air quality under Title 19, Environmental Quality Code;

21. delaying certain reporting requirements regarding the price of pharmaceutical drugs; and

22. repealing certain provisions that allow a municipality to annex certain unincorporated areas without an annexation petition.

J. Stuart Adams,
Senate President
Brad R. Wilson,
Speaker of the House of Representatives

J. Stuart Adams
PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

In early spring 2020, the governor shut down all businesses, schools and social and family activities as the COVID-19 virus spread in the United States. Economically, we thought we were headed into a depression worse than the great depression of the 1930s.

We witnessed Italy and New York City fill buildings with fatalities, and wondered if we would fill the Salt Palace with our own citizens.

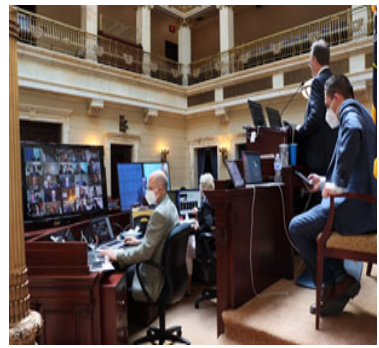
However, because of years of planning, Utah was well-positioned to manage the medical, economic and social insecurity of 2020.

We witnessed Italy and New York City fill buildings with fatalities, and wondered if we would fill the Salt Palace with our own citizens. However, because of years of planning, Utah was well-positioned to manage the medical, economic and social insecurity of 2020.

On March 6, 2020, Utah's first COVID-19 case was announced. Just one week later, the 2020 General Session ended. Before adjourning, the Legislature passed S.J.R. 16 Joint Rules Resolution Regarding Electronic Meetings, permitting the Legislature to conduct remote meetings under extraordinary conditions. This foresight enabled us to continue to work throughout the COVID-19 pandemic and provide much-needed relief to Utah families and businesses.

Thirty days after the general session ended, we called ourselves into a virtual special session for the first time in the history of our state. I stood in front of an empty chamber, with only limited staff members nearby, as senators joined remotely to pass needed legislation.

During this special session, we formed a joint commission that immediately passed recommendations to open non-emergency medical procedures and other businesses. Following the legislatively formed commission's recommendations, non-emergency medical services, restaurants, gyms, hair salons and most other businesses opened in some form on May 1, 2020, less than two months after initial shutdowns. Utah was one of the first states in the U.S. to safely open the economy by using best practices with a focus on saving both lives and livelihoods.



In subsequent special sessions, we moved from an all-virtual format to a hybrid format, allowing senators who wished to be in the chamber the opportunity to vote on legislation in-person. During the special sessions, we protected the constitutional legislative process and put limits and regulations on the governor's state of emergency power, pushed for more personal responsibility and fewer restrictions on businesses and allocated money for hard-hit industries and families.

As the year continued and COVID-19 vaccines were approved by the FDA, our focus shifted to vaccinating our most vulnerable population–individuals over 65. Utahns over the age of 65 accounted for almost 80 percent of our state's COVID-19 fatalities. We knew focusing on vaccinating our older population would save the most lives while simultaneously allowing the state to continue opening all parts of the economy.

We also saw an opportunity to engage more Utahns than ever before in the legislative process and tasked Capitol IT staff to provide a platform for individuals to virtually participate in committee meetings, in addition to having an in-person option. As a result, more Utahns than ever before participated in the policy-making process.

While many other states across the country went from surpluses to deficits, Utah was in a strong position financially because our focus was on safely getting Utahns back to work. We were in a position to pass historic state funding for education, provide teachers and staff COVID-19 bonuses, cut almost $100 million in taxes, allocated funds for affordable housing, fully funded growth and inflation in Medicaid and invested $1.1 billion in infrastructure during the 2021 General Session. Utah was able to increase funding for education and other services while implementing a tax cut in the middle of the pandemic.

Our state ended the year with the lowest case fatality rate, one of the lowest unemployment rates and was ranked the best economy in the nation. Like many others, 2020 was the most difficult, stressful year of my life, but it was also a year of innovation and resilience. Though we saw devastating losses because of the pandemic, we came out on the other side stronger and even more prepared for the next emergency.

As we experienced unprecedented challenges, we spent long days and even longer nights searching for solutions and updating strategies based on new data streaming in at all hours. Though there were days we wondered if we were making the right decisions, as I reflect on our choices, I am proud of what we were able to accomplish – saving both lives and livelihoods.

STATE OF UTAH

SENATE JOURNAL
2021 GENERAL SESSION
of the
SIXTY–FOURTH LEGISLATURE

FIRST DAY

MORNING SESSION

January 19, 2021

Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution of the State of Utah, the Senators of the Sixty–Fourth Legislature of the State of Utah convened in General Session in the Senate Chamber on Monday, January 19, 2021, at ten o'clock a.m.

The Senate was called to order at 10:12 a.m., by former Senator Daniel Hemmert, Interim Executive Director of the Governor's Office of Economic Development.

PRAYER BY SISTER LISA HARKNESS, FIRST COUNSELOR IN THE GENERAL PRIMARY PRESIDENCY OF THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER–DAY SAINTS

Our Dear Beloved Heavenly Father,

We humbly approach thee in prayer this morning at the beginning of the 2021 Legislative Session. We are so very grateful for this great state of Utah, for the beauty of its mountains and valleys, and for especially, the strength of its people. We are grateful for the liberties which we enjoy, for the freedom to elect those that will represent us here in government.

Father, we pray now for blessings upon each Senator and the Professionals that will support them in their service here. May they be blessed with energy, strength, and good health to meet the strenuous demands of the upcoming weeks. Wilt thou bless their homes, their businesses, and their places of employment, while they are away. And please, wilt thou kindly care for their families, for their children, and for those they love dearly, that their needs might also be met during this busy time.

Father, we ask thee that thou might bless the members of this esteemed Chamber with wisdom, civility, and with hearts open to see the needs of those that have put their trust in them. We pray that their deliberations may be thorough but not contentious. Father, wilt thou please help them that their deliberations here, their conversations, and their proceedings might be based on the principles of industry, integrity, inclusion, and compassion. Wilt thou please help them that they might be able to have the vision to understand how their decisions here may benefit all of Utahns and especially those of the rising generation.

Finally, Father, we pray for those who protect us with service and keep us safe. We pray for those who have been impacted greatly and deeply by the Corona virus and Father we plead for its speedy resolution.
We say these things now with grateful hearts and do so in the name of Jesus Christ, amen.

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Senate expressed appreciation to Executive Director Daniel Hemmert for taking time to participate in the opening of the Utah State Senate.

WELCOMING REMARKS BY PRESIDENT ADAMS

Thank you, former Senator, now Director Hemmert, for being here today. You have been such a great friend. We will miss you, and we wish you the best.

We are also going to miss:

·Allen Christensen
·Deidre Henderson
·Lyle Hillyard
·Ralph Okerlund

Their wisdom, their institutional knowledge, and their friendship will be missed by all of us. Thank you for your many, many years of service.

Today, we welcome five new Senators to the Senate.

·John Johnson
·Michael Kennedy
·Mike McKell
·Derrin Owens
·Chris Wilson

We are excited to have your talents, intelligence and fresh ideas in the Senate, even if some of those ideas come from the House! And thank you, all of you, for giving me the honor and challenge of serving as your Senate President again! It is a great honor.

I want to personally thank Sister Lisa Harkness, Commissioner Jess Anderson, the Utah Symphony Ensemble, and the Hill Air Force Base Honor Guard for helping us today.

We have the best Senate staff, led by our incredible chief of staff, Mark Thomas. They have worked almost continually, beginning early in the morning, late into the night and on weekends, addressing concerns and unprecedented problems, for the past year.

Our legislative staff from each office has worked tirelessly. Last year, everyone in the Legislative Branch and on Capitol Hill worked through complex issues during less–than–ideal circumstances. In fact, there have been so many people who have made this last year possible – the Capitol Preservation Board, Utah Highway Patrol, Utah National Guard, all law enforcement officers, healthcare professionals, teachers, business owners, maintenance, cleaning professionals, and all those who have stepped up during this last year.

In addition to all those I have already mentioned, I want to take a moment to thank especially Susan and my family for their support and help. They are the reason I became involved in public service. I love all of you. I know some of you are watching online. Thank you for your patience with me and your support.

2020 has been a tough year, and we lost people dear to us – some from COVID–19 and some from other causes. I want to take a moment to remember all those we have lost, including, most recently, Allyson Gamble and Rep. Lou Shurtliff.

Allyson navigated the needs of the three branches, the media, the public and visitors for more than 20 years. She truly made this building, our Capitol, the People's House.

Rep. Shurtliff was an incredible public servant. I was blessed to have the opportunity to serve with her in the House and she was a strong advocate for education. She will be greatly missed in the Legislature.

Many of us have lost family or friends to the COVID–19 virus. Please join me and silently stand for a few moments of reflection and respect for ALL those who passed away in 2020.

The last 12 months have been unprecedented and historic. We began the 2020 General Session one year ago, unaware of what was to come. Physical distancing had yet to become part of our regular vocabulary. We did not think twice about gathering in large groups, and surely, none of us imagined a day when we would need to stockpile face masks, hand sanitizer and toilet paper.

We also saw hurricane winds, earthquakes and unrest in our country and at our state Capitol. The events of this summer and in the past week have caused me to reflect on our country's and state's history. We need to learn from the lessons of the past – to avoid the pitfalls of those who have gone before us. We will lose what makes our country the beacon of hope, the American dream, everything that is so precious to us if we continue down this path. Our very freedoms are at stake.

The effort to discredit and censor those we disagree with is disheartening and alarming. Our country is unique because we can have a difference of opinion, regardless of political opinions or views, without fear of harm.

I call on protesters – in our state and around our nation – to practice their constitutional rights in a peaceful and orderly manner. Abide by law and order. We will not tolerate violence and civil disorder.

We cannot let our differences divide us. We need to take the lessons we have learned throughout the course of this pandemic, especially lessons of collaboration.

In the Senate, we bring individuals together – Republicans, Democrats, stakeholders and constituents – making sure the process is inclusive so that we accomplish the best policies for our state by finding unified solutions.

Our work this year is just beginning. We have a long road ahead of us and many things have changed, including the annual general session. Instead of gathering with all our family and friends, we have limited family members and senators. Some senators are here in the Capitol and some senators are joining virtually. But we are all convening, and we are ready to do the people's business and represent our constituents. What a difference a pandemic makes.

Last year, in April 2020, we called ourselves into a virtual special session for the first time in the history of our state. We were responding to the imposed economic shutdowns. We formed a joint commission that immediately passed recommendations to open up non–emergency medical procedures and other businesses, including restaurants, gyms and hair salons, which had been shut down.

Following the legislatively formed commission's recommendations, those and most other businesses have opened in some form since May 1, 2020. Nothing good just happens.

Last year, we also received and deployed more than $1.5 billion CARES Act funding. We focused that funding on helping save lives and save livelihoods. We protected the constitutional legislative process and put limits and regulations on the governor's state of emergency power and pushed for more personal responsibility and fewer restrictions on businesses. We will continue that work this legislative session.

We found and allocated money for hard–hit industries and families to assist those struggling. Through the legislative process, we pushed for a balanced, blended and holistic approach to manage COVID–19 – protecting people's health, lives and livelihoods.

What are the results of our efforts?

Utah's case fatality rates are the lowest in the nation at .0045. That means if you test positive for COVID–19 in Utah, you have a 99.55 percent chance of survival. Again, the lowest case fatality rate in the nation. We all hope with the new vaccine distribution strategy that focuses on saving the most vulnerable, that death rates will dramatically decrease.

If we vaccinate those 65 and older, we eliminate 77 percent of fatalities by focusing on just 10 percent of our population. Vaccinating those 65 and older is the most significant step we can take to protect lives and livelihoods. If we do that, we can open up the parts of our economy that are still struggling, including our entertainment facilities, convention centers and hospitality services.

We have not forgotten the segments of the economy that are still struggling. We will continue working tirelessly to find the balance needed. And we will not forget them. Let's focus on saving the most lives possible and opening up all parts of the economy by getting those who are most at risk, 65 and older, vaccinated.

Not only do we have the lowest fatality rate in the nation, but because of your efforts last April, Utah has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the country.

We are starting this session with budget surpluses. We are reinstating the cost of living increase appropriated last year for state employees. We are funding Medicaid enrollment increases.

Additionally, last summer, we funded a 1.8 percent increase in the WPU for our teachers, the only state in the nation to increase education spending during the pandemic.

In December, we went a step further. The Executive Appropriations Committee recommended the full reinstatement of the 6 percent increase in the WPU. We allocated $95 million to fund growth and inflation in the public education base budget and provided educators with a one-time bonus, a COVID-19 stipend.

Because our state took a blended approach of protecting lives and livelihoods and kept the economy open, we were able to fund education and are now in a position to reduce taxes.

Other states took a drastically different approach to managing COVID-19. Let's compare a couple of them.

California projected a $5.6 billion surplus at the beginning of 2020, but the pandemic transformed those projections to a $54 Billion dollar deficit by the end of 2020. New York is forecasting to have a $59 Billion dollar deficit in the next two years. Hawaii is furloughing teachers because they cannot afford to pay them. That is tragic and heartbreaking.

Meanwhile, in Utah, we have nearly a $1 billion surplus in one-time funds available to replenish our rainy-day funds and half a billion dollars in ongoing revenue to help continue to push our economy on the path to full recovery.

We live in the greatest state in the nation. I am proud of everyone who has sacrificed and done so much during this past year – our medical providers, first responders, school staff and so many more.

I am especially proud of our teachers, including my oldest daughter, who is a 3rd-grade teacher in the Weber School District. She and the other teachers in her school have been teaching in–person five days a week since August, the start of the school year. She has told me of the extraordinary efforts everyone has made in her school during COVID–19.

I am grateful for the efforts of those who make the classroom clean and safe so that our children and grandchildren can get the best in–person education possible under the circumstances. They are the unsung heroes of 2020. I appreciate all educators and staff for their dedication.

In a recent visit to Utah, Dr. Birx, a member of the White House coronavirus task force, and Dr. Redfield, who heads up the CDC, recommended face–to–face instruction based on research. They didn't find a difference in the spread of the virus among educators teaching online versus in–person, but found many students failing to learn in an online environment.

Teachers have done an amazing job with the resources they have been given, but parents should have the option to have their kids be in the classroom.

We are seeing alarming reports that in the Salt Lake City School District, where there is no option for in–person learning, there is a 600 percent increase in students failing all classes, despite teachers' best efforts.

We cannot let this happen in Utah. Our kids' futures are at risk. With teachers now having vaccination priority, Salt Lake City School District needs to start face–to–face instruction now and give each student the best opportunities to learn.

As a state, we have proven time and time again that we can achieve greatness. This does not happen by accident. We come together, listen and act.

This year's Senate coin has the Senate Seal on one side, and George Washington on the other. George Washington has many titles, the first being America's First General, and the second being America's First President. Both titles give him the highest distinction and honor. However, I believe George Washington's greatest accomplishment was presiding over the Constitutional Convention and drafting our country's most prized document, the Constitution. And so, I believe his greatest title was not General or President, but Chairman Washington.

There were 55 delegates who attended the Constitutional Convention. Just like this Senate, not one person had all the answers, but each member contributed. The drafting of the Constitution was not done by one person or through an executive process, but through the formation of a convention, which is similar to our legislative process.

John Jay, who was a member of the convention and later became the first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, said it best: "Let Congress legislate, let others execute, let others judge."

Just like the formation of the United States Constitution, policy should not be created by the executive branch or judges but should be a deliberative process reserved for a larger, more diverse group of elected officials. Our Founding Fathers got it right – only a legislative–like group could create the most significant policy document in our country's history.

Many times, ideas need to be privately formulated. It has been said before we should think before we speak and measure twice and cut once. This private, thoughtful process was key to the creation of our Constitution. However, after the private, thoughtful process, the drafted Constitution was vetted by the public again and again.

Washington and the Convention completed their work on September 17, 1787, but it was not until almost three years later, in May of 1790, that all thirteen states ratified the Constitution, with some of the most significant rights, The Bill of Rights, added through the public process.

On each of your desks is a copy of the United States Constitution. This document stands as a testament to the legislative process – the same process we engage in, which allows for multiple forms of vetting, and most importantly, public input.

As we debate and consider policy during the next 44 days, we encourage input from all Utahns. This proper process allows us to avoid unintended consequences and is how policies should be implemented. It is why we created a system to allow anyone to remotely participate and provide comments as if they were in the room.

For the first time in the history of our state, all committee rooms, including the four new committee rooms, have been wired for not only audio but video, which makes it possible for members of the public to join and give public comment virtually – almost the same way they could if they were in–person.

We value and understand the need for those outside the legislative body to contribute to legislation. With these new adjustments, we will have space for in–person and remote public feedback when appropriate.

This year, more than ever, we need the voice of the people. Moms and dads who cannot leave their children at home can now participate. Working individuals who cannot leave their 9 to 5 job can now participate. Rural Utahns who live six hours away can now participate. Those who have never been part of the legislative process before, this is your year.

This year, this virtual year, by working together, we can continue to find ways to improve the future for education, increase workforce opportunities, ensure upward mobility and assist those struggling during this pandemic. Our state is the best in the country for upward mobility.

Just like George Washington, the Utah Senate values actions over words. Our constituents' actions, combined with legislative action, will transform policy and Utah as a whole.

In the upcoming session, I am committed to reinvigorating our mental health efforts. Throughout the pandemic, mental health needs have increased. Davis County's receiving center for mental health has experienced amazing results. This program and others like it need to be expanded. We cannot ignore this growing concern. Utah should and will create models the country can use to help address this important issue.

More and more people are moving to our great state. We are the best location in the world to live in. We need to fund infrastructure. To alleviate congestion on our roads, we need to fund projects like double-tracking the Frontrunner and expanding highways and alternate routes, along with increasing our fiber optic system and, of course, water.

We love our open spaces in Utah. We need to conserve our great outdoors and improve the trail and park capacity. These will not only improve our quality of life, but will draw people toward our state. These projects will be contributing factors to why all of us will want to stay in Utah.

Education and education funding will always be our top priority. We will continue to demonstrate this by increasing education funding even during a pandemic. We will also need to explore a more equitable education funding distribution and parents need to be given more control.

Not only do we want to provide Utah students with the best education possible, but we also owe it to them to grow and develop our communities and economy, offering reasons for them to stay in Utah after graduation. The Point of the Mountain effort, Silicon Slopes, the Inland Port, Falcon Hill and rural economic development will be top priorities. We cannot allow unnecessary, burdensome business regulations stand in the way of innovation and family-sustaining jobs.

This session, we need to do even more.

We need to reduce the burden on our senior citizens by reducing the state tax on social security and military retirement. We need to find solutions to reduce the tax on families and address the effects of federal tax reform on dependent children. And we even need to reduce the tax on productivity.

2021 will be the year of the tax cut!

Utah faced some incredible challenges in 2020, and we met adversity head–on. The great people of Utah deserve all the credit. Their fortitude enabled us to emerge from 2020 stronger, as individuals and as a state. Nothing good just happens.

Now, we have a lot of work ahead of us in the next 44 days. I urge you to be civil and respectful, even at times when we disagree. Let us set the standard for 2021 – our comeback year – for health, for jobs, for civility and to unite as a nation once again.

On this year's coin is a quote from President, General, Chairman Washington, "Deeds, not words." Washington's actions, what he accomplished, were always greater than his words. He had a reputation like we do in Utah. He got things done. Now it is time to go to work and get it done.

Thank you. May God continue to bless Utah and the United States of America.

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Senate recessed at 12:00 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Senate reassembled at 2:21 p.m., with President Adams presiding.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Legislature resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Chief Justice Matthew Durrant's State of the Judiciary virtual address.

Supreme Court Justices in attendance: Chief Justice Durrant, Associate Chief Justice Lee, Justice Himonas, Justice Pearce, and Justice Petersen.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW DURRANT

I'm pleased to join you virtually with my colleagues Associate Chief Justice Thomas Lee, and Justices Deno Himonas, John Pearce, and Paige Petersen. They are good and honorable people, and it is a great privilege to serve with them.

In the course of the past year, our world has changed in ways we could not have imagined. We've moved much of our lives from the real world to the virtual world. Small things that we took for granted––a warm embrace, a casual meal with friends, a family vacation, and so many more––have been made much more precious to us, things to be longed for, dreamed about.

We've all been witness to the terrible toll this virus has taken in lives, health, and treasure. But amid the devastation wrought by the pandemic, heroes have emerged––health workers, first responders, police officers, delivery people, and many others who risk their health to see that basic needs are met.

The virus has presented an unprecedented challenge to businesses of all sizes, but small business owners have borne the brunt of its effects. Our hearts go out to all who've lost businesses, lost jobs, and, of course, especially to those who have lost family members or friends.

The public sector, too, has been presented with unprecedented and unimagined challenges. Our Utah state government plays a critical role in the lives of every Utah citizen. Each of our three branches of government has faced the daunting challenge of how to continue to deliver essential services to the people of Utah without unduly endangering the lives of those who serve in government or the lives of the citizens they serve.

You, our legislature, under the strong leadership of President Adams and Speaker Wilson, acted with alacrity and foresight in scaling back our state budget and in allocating the federal funds that have been made available to our state. You have played a critical role in leading our state through this crisis.

Our executive branch, too, has provided much–needed leadership. Governor Herbert and now Governor Cox have faced daunting and difficult decisions, the kinds of decisions that will never leave everyone happy, but I'm confident they have made each of them with the state's best interests at heart.

We in the judiciary have faced our own set of daunting and difficult decisions. Any report on the state of our judiciary in the year of the pandemic will, of course, be primarily about how we as a branch have responded to this earthshaking event. So I will begin with this––I am deeply and unreservedly proud of how our judges and staff have acquitted themselves during this turbulent time. They have risen to the challenge and more. I am especially grateful for the yeoman work done by our judicial council, our supreme court, and our state court administrator, Judge Mary Noonan, in leading us through this crisis.

By mid–April, we were able to move almost all of the court system online, with all of our courts holding virtual hearings and trials, a herculean task accomplished with breakneck speed by our IT department under the able leadership of Heidi Anderson. To give you some sense of the scope of this effort, these virtual hearings and trials have involved over 400,000 individual participants. [1]

And even more remarkably, we have been able to largely keep pace, at all court levels, with our pre–pandemic caseload. The appellate courts haven't missed a step. And our juvenile courts are functioning at near 100% of our pre–pandemic standard. We've also seen our district courts largely keep pace with pre–pandemic metrics, with two significant exceptions: the age of pending cases and the conducting of jury trials. While we continue to see the vast majority of cases resolve within established case processing timelines, those cases are still taking longer to resolve and we are setting dates that extend further into the future than was typical of our pre–pandemic calendaring practices. And more significantly, the inability to safely conduct jury trials—especially in criminal and tort cases—is creating a considerable backlog. This is a source of great concern to me and to all our judges.

We have held trials to the bench throughout the pandemic. But jury trials pose significant challenges not attendant to judge trials. On the one hand, individuals are constitutionally entitled to jury trials, and, in criminal trials, their very freedom may be at stake. On the other hand, we as a court system, have an obligation to ensure that the public and our employees are not put at undue risk. This obligation is heightened by the fact that we as judges have the power to force potential jurors to come to our courthouses, potentially putting themselves at risk of illness or even death. To provide some sense of the number of individuals involved, in fiscal year 2019, more than 42,000 people reported to courthouses across the state to be considered for jury service in the district courts. Sitting shoulder–to–shoulder for several hours during the jury selection process, over 2,900 of those individuals were ultimately selected and deliberated as jurors. Many of these people were members of vulnerable demographic groups. As an additional complicating factor, holding jury trials virtually presents technical and constitutional problems that are not presented by judge trials.

Our judicial council continually monitors the state of the virus on a county by county basis. We have been working for some time in conjunction with the chief medical officer and the chief epidemiologist at the University of Utah to find ways that we can safely resume jury trials. I want to publicly thank them for their assistance. I also want to thank the professionals at our state Department of Health, and those working at local health departments all across Utah, for providing us invaluable data and guidance. We are committed to resuming trials in a way that takes every precaution to protect the health of jurors, and all other participants in the trial process.

As you might expect in the year of the virus, the bulk of our budget requests are for investment in technology. As difficult as it has been to move a state–wide court system from a real to a virtual environment, that transition will no doubt have long–term benefits for both the court and the public. During the last legislative session, you funded our IT requests. This funding was understandably reversed as part of the June special session budget reductions. We are now renewing our request for funds to hire additional IT developers, as well as funds to enhance our online court assistance program. We also seek funds to firm up our cybersecurity infrastructure and increase the network bandwidth in our rural courthouses.

In addition to these technology funding requests, we are asking for funding for our new Public Outreach Coordinator (something I'll speak about shortly), funding to enable our judges to receive and consider information regarding out-of-state criminal history when making their bail decisions, funding to assist us in retaining and recruiting court commissioners, and funding to educate our employees so they can take on leadership roles in the court system. Our requests amount to $1,935,000 in ongoing funding and $10,000 in one-time funding. We are always careful as a branch not to overreach in our budget requests. This is why we have limited our requests to only those that we believe truly justify the expenditure of sacred tax-payer funds. I hope you will see fit to fund these requests.

During this past year, we have all had occasion to think deeply about the critical need for fairness in our society. I commend those responsible for preparing and supporting the Utah Compact on Racial Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion, which has been endorsed by many government and community leaders. The judiciary shares this commitment. We are devoted to ensuring that all who seek justice in our judicial system are treated with respect, fairness, and impartiality. We recognize that many Utahans are intimidated by the judicial process. In fact, many feel they have been left behind by government generally. And they lack confidence in governmental institutions. This is especially true of those from marginalized communities. Many worry they will be disadvantaged in the court system by their race, gender, socioeconomic status, or some combination of these or other inappropriate factors. We feel a compelling need to communicate to those who feel they have been left behind by society that they will not be left behind by our court system. We want them to know that a court is a sanctuary, a place where they can go to seek remedy for wrongs done them, to seek vindication of their rights, and to seek justice; a place where they will be on equal footing with every other Utah citizen; a place where they will find a judge who is committed to treating them with dignity and respect, and to ensuring that their basic rights are protected.

And those are the kinds of judges we have in Utah's judiciary. I believe that all of our judges are committed to discharging their duties in a fair and impartial way devoid of bias. But we have come to understand as judges that bias can work its way into our decision-making even at a subconscious level. We are, after all, the product of our own lived experiences and environments. We must have the humility as judges to acknowledge this and endeavor to identify any potential biases, even subliminal or implicit ones, so that we might root them out of our judgment process. The same is true for all employees of the judicial branch, from judicial assistants, to juvenile probation officers, to administrators. Each of us, no matter our position with the courts, must recognize the need to root out potential bias as we strive, consistent with our mission statement, to deliver "an open, fair, efficient, and independent system for the advancement of justice under the law." As a result of our deeply–held desire to ensure that our judges and employees are as impartial as is humanly possible and to assure the public, especially marginalized communities, that this is the case, we have created a new office in the judiciary—an Office of Fairness and Accountability and, within that office, the position of Public Outreach Coordinator. We, as a judicial branch, are committed to holding ourselves accountable, and to reaching out to the public with a message that in Utah's court system everyone will be treated with the respect and dignity that is owed them as citizens and as human beings. Public trust is the currency of the judiciary. We are committed to being worthy of that trust.

At this difficult time, many of our public institutions are viewed with suspicion and skepticism. But when I look around me, I see public servants, whether in your branch, the executive branch, or the judicial branch, who are hard–working and committed to serving the public. We are now, more than ever, all in this together. It is my hope and my prayer that we can work together to honor the sacred trust placed in us by the citizens of our great state. I wish you the very best in the important work you will do this session. Thank you for your dedicated service.

JOINT CONVENTION

President J. Stuart Adams called the Joint Convention to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Brad R. Wilson, Speaker of the House.

President Adams announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Adams appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Evan Vickers, Kirk Cullimore, and Karen Mayne, and Representatives Francis Gibson, Mike Schultz, and Brian King to notify Governor Spencer J. Cox that the 2021 General Session of the Sixty-Fourth Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State-of-the-State address.

President Adams acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Evan Vickers made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Cox's State-of-the-State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Cox to the House rostrum.

STATE–OF–THE–STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR SPENCER J. COX

Speaker Wilson, President Adams, legislators, justices of the Utah Supreme Court, Lt. Governor and Gabe Henderson, First Lady Abby and my fellow Utahns: Thank you for giving me this opportunity to address you this evening.

Not far from where we are seated tonight sits one of Utah's most recognizable landmarks: the Salt Lake Temple. Construction began in 1853 with progress agonizingly slow as the large granite blocks had to be quarried 20 miles away. It took four days to haul each individual stone to the construction site.

And then the unthinkable. After 10 years of painstaking labor, workers noticed that the foundation stones were cracking.

I can't even begin to imagine how devastated those settlers felt. I'm sure they desperately wanted to just move forward. Surely there had to be another way. But they knew that such an important building for them would never stand the test of time if the foundation was not sure.

And so, with grit and renewed determination they did what they knew they had to do. They made the gut–wrenching decision to start over. It took another 30 years to complete, but 130 years later that building still stands as a tribute to their sacrifice and tenacity.

Today, if you drive by that iconic building you can actually see some of those stones, because that foundation is once again under construction. Even though the building and structure are in perfect condition, the decision was made to use new technology to fortify the foundation against a catastrophic earthquake. This building where we meet tonight has gone through a similar renovation. You see, here in Utah, we build things to last. And when we learn a better way to do the job, we start back over and we build it again.

Tonight, we find ourselves in a similar period of building and rebuilding. We meet in an extraordinary place in extraordinary times. So much has changed because of this pandemic.

Even the nature of this speech has changed to keep people safe. Every one of you has been tested for a virus we knew little to nothing about one year ago. You are wearing masks. The galleries are empty. Your spouses and guests and staff are all watching from home.

I've also significantly shortened this speech from its usual length, making it, we believe, the shortest State of the State speech in Utah history (something most of you will see as a rare silver lining of the pandemic and worthy of a Norm Thurston standing ovation in better times). And in the name of brevity, I've even removed the carefully orchestrated applause lines – which probably wouldn't work anyway without some strategically placed staffers — Mike Mower — to remind you when to clap.

But of course, these modifications pale in comparison to the incredible changes and innovations and sacrifices made by the people of Utah over the past year. More than 1,500 Utahns are not with us tonight because of this insidious disease.

Our healthcare professionals, public health servants, first responders, businesses, workers, seniors and children ... truly every single citizen of this state has made enormous sacrifices to save lives and keep our economy open.

Tonight we salute you and say to all Utahns that help is on the way. Vaccines are being administered as we speak. The changes we have made to vaccine distribution are working and the end to this pandemic is in sight.

And as we speak of sacrifices made, can I say a word about our teachers? Never in the history of our state have we felt your influence or needed you more than right now. You have pivoted on a dime and figured out ways to do what seemed impossible.

In one school — with an extremely high–risk teacher — school officials actually figured out a way to repurpose a classroom that had a room within a room...one with glass windows, to keep the teacher safe. Every day that teacher enters his room and stands behind those glass windows with a microphone and speakers so he can see his students — including my son — through that glass and teach them in person...while his own children have to take classes online at home to protect their Dad.

That teacher is my brother. And he represents every one of our teachers who has worked themselves to the bone to keep our kids safe and keep them from falling behind.

They deserve our respect. And they deserve a raise. I'm grateful to you legislators who agree and have pledged historic education funding this year, including $112 million dollars in bonuses for our teachers. In addition, I have proposed a nearly 6% increase in our state's education funding — more than $400 million in all.

And while I just referred to these investments as "historic," I'm looking forward to them becoming routine.

Now, it would be easy — and I can tell you it is very tempting — to stand here tonight and talk about all the good things that are happening in Utah and the accolades that continue to come our way. There is certainly plenty to share. I mean, our economy is far better off than anyone expected as we continue to lead the nation in job and population growth. Having the highest rate of upward mobility and the second lowest rate of poverty are definitely things to celebrate.

But I don't believe the people of Utah elected us to pat ourselves on the back.

A wise person once said that we should go into government "to do," not "to be." And this pandemic has shown us that, after celebrating 125 years of statehood, there may be some cracks in our foundation that need attention.

The Constitution of our state guarantees a high quality education, and yet, I fear, that is not happening in every corner of our state. We all agree that it is better to teach a man to fish than to give him a fish. There is nothing controversial there. However, in many of our more affluent neighborhoods we teach kids how to fish and give them a speedboat, a graphite rod and a Fish Finder. And you know what? Those kids can fish.

But in too many of our rural communities and communities of color we give kids a stick and a string...and then we can't figure out why they don't catch as many fish.

Education has always been called the great equalizer, but it can't be that way if our kids are not treated equally.

Ladies and gentlemen, I truly believe that this concept of educational equity is at the heart of so much of the pain and division in our country right now. A high-quality education can change everything.

It's the key to unlocking intergenerational poverty. It's the key to disrupting the criminal justice pipeline. It's the key to unlocking the American Dream. And it's the right thing to do.

But it's hard. It means replacing some of those foundation stones that are cracking. It means changing the way we fund schools. It means challenging some of our long-held assumptions and setting aside what may be good for your own individual school and district to instead support the best interests of the entire state.

Those are tough choices.

Over the past year we have had some critical conversations around race and justice. And if I can be so bold, putting up a sign or joining a rally isn't enough. The best way we can bring to life the American promise — of liberty and justice for all — is to make sure that every single child, brown or Black, rural or urban has the same opportunity as every other child.

You see, in Utah it shouldn't matter what side of I–15 you were born on — or in my case, on what side of the Payson–Dixon line you happen to live — every child in this state deserves a great education from a high–quality, well–compensated teacher. I ask you to join me in this effort.

Now, our state continues to grow at an unprecedented rate. With this growth comes additional challenges. Air quality, transportation, water and the cost of housing are all the types of foundational cracks that could derail our success and the opportunities for future generations. In the spirit of brevity tonight, I would encourage each of you to read our recently published One Utah Roadmap, a Plan for the First 500 Days of the Cox–Henderson Administration with detailed goals and initiatives to deal with these issues and strengthen our foundation.

And like those past leaders, we have a duty to make the hard and smart decisions that will improve our future. In fact, thanks to the past actions of many in this room and my predecessor Governor Gary Herbert, this legislative session we have the most unique of opportunities: a chance to reduce taxes AND provide historic investments for infrastructure.

By providing an $80 million tax cut targeted at senior citizens and Utah families, we can improve the quality of life for scores of Utahns, while simultaneously investing significant new funding for transportation, water, recreation and broadband infrastructure that will benefit every Utahn on and off the Wasatch Front for generations to come.

These investments will finally make it possible to stop exporting our kids to other places — from rural Utah because we lack jobs, and from the Wasatch Front because they can't afford to live here.

But the greatest infrastructure investment of all, is investing in our people. All the jobs in the world are meaningless if our people aren't qualified for those jobs. Job growth or GDP growth must never be seen as an end in itself. Economic growth is merely a means to an end … and that end is that the people of Utah can achieve the American dream.

To help accomplish that goal, I have proposed significant increases in job training, up–skilling and more money for our trade and technical educational institutions. We must overcome once and for all this terrible idea that every child needs a bachelor's degree to be successful. It's bad for our kids and it's bad for our economy. Helping our children — and adults — find the pathway that is right for them will strengthen families and our economy.

The last foundational crack I want to address is that of contempt, tribalism and discord that has rocked our nation over the past few weeks. I have spoken of it often, but tonight only offer up a reminder of the oaths which those of us in this room have taken — to uphold the Constitution of the United States.

The Preamble of that sacred document announces that the purpose of the Constitution is "to form a more perfect Union." Judge Thomas Griffith has wisely stated that, "When politicians and judges like us take an oath to uphold the Constitution, we commit to work for unity; we make a solemn pledge that we will not be agents of division. This vow to work for unity," he concluded, "is more than gauzy sentimentality or merely a call for civility in our public discourse. Instead, it is a studied and determined choice to work at union."

That, of course, does not mean that we should never disagree. I'm going to veto some of your bills. Probably more than my predecessors. Please don't take it personally.

You are going to override some of those vetoes. I promise not to take that personally. It doesn't mean that I'm bad or you're weak. It is simply part of a process. A gloriously messy and inspired process.

But there must be no room for contempt or hate. We are friends. We must always be friends.

Now, I've spent a great deal of time talking about fixing the cracks in our foundation. But let me be clear. Government was never designed to solve all of our problems. I don't mean that as a partisan or political statement, but as something I have seen up close and personal for many years.

The founders of our state and nation understood this. It's not government that makes our country special. It's volunteer organizations and churches and philanthropists and neighbors taking care of each other and solving problems so government doesn't have to.

In short, if we want smaller government, we need bigger people.

Instead of protesting at a healthcare leader's personal residence, consider taking some time to volunteer at the local food bank. Instead of posting on Facebook, walk across the street to check on your neighbor. Instead of listening to another talking (screaming) head on cable news, try listening to a new friend who looks or thinks a little differently than you.

My fellow Utahns let me conclude with one more brief story from those early rugged settlers of our state. As a group of pioneers on their way to Utah were crossing a particularly difficult patch of land, the wagon of the first Territorial Governor Brigham Young and several others got stuck in a sandbar. Undaunted, a faithful member of the group asked if they should pray. To which he replied, "Pray? We prayed this morning. Let's push."

Ladies and gentlemen, now is our time to be bold in tackling the tough issues. Now is our time to be fearless in examining our flaws. Now is our time to reject hate and make opportunity available to all Utahns. Now … is our time to push.

My friends, the state of our State is hopeful. And the state of our State is resilient. May God bless each of you. And may God bless the Great State of Utah.

1. Page 2, Line 57 through Page 3, Line 69:

57 (i) The special education student growth factor is calculated by comparing {~~S-3~~} S-2 total special education [~~ADM of two years~~] average daily membership of one year previous to the current year to the {~~S-3~~} S-2 total special education [~~ADM three~~] average daily membership two years previous to the current year, not to exceed the official October total school district or charter school growth factor from the prior year.

(ii) When calculating and applying the growth factor, a school district's S-3 total special education ADM for a given year is limited to [~~12.18%~~] the following percentage of the school district's {~~S-3~~} S-2 total student ADM for the same year[~~.~~]:

(A) for a school district in a county of the first, second, or third class, 14%; and

(B) for a school district in a county of the fourth, fifth, or sixth class, 20%.

(iii) Growth ADMs are calculated by applying the growth factor to the {~~S-3~~} S-2 total special education [~~ADM of two years~~] average daily membership of one year previous to the current

Senator Hinkins proposed the following amendment #1:

1. Page 26, Lines 773 through 781:

773 (6) (a) Any responsible party who incurs costs under this part in excess of [~~his~~] {~~the~~} that party's liability and who gave at least 30 days prior written notice to other responsible parties of the intent to incur costs and seek contribution under this part

774 may seek contribution from any other responsible party to whom the prior written notice was given and who is or may be liable under this part for the 775 excess costs in the district court.

(b) The recovery of costs in this Subsection (6) is not conditioned

776 on the initiation or issuance by the director of any action or order allocating liability in 777 accordance with the director's discretionary authority to do so under Subsection (1).

778 {~~(b)~~} It is the intent of the Legislature that the amendment to this Subsection (6) (b) by this

779 bill apply retroactively because the amendment only clarifies the Legislature's original intent to

780 grant a private cause of action to any responsible party to allow that responsible party to seek contribution that is not 781 dependent upon any action taken by the director.

Senator McKell proposed the following amendment #1:

1. Page 1, Lines 11 through 14:

11 This bill:

12 ▸ amends {~~a provision regarding~~} provisions addressing sums that are in a joint account at the time a party to

13 the account dies; and 14 ▸ makes technical and conforming changes.

2. Page 1, Line 26 through Page 2, Line 33:

26 (1) (a) Sums remaining on deposit at the death of a party to a joint account belong to

27 the surviving party or parties as against the estate of the decedent unless there is clear and

28 convincing evidence of a different intention [~~at the time the account is created~~].

(b) A financial institution may rely on the financial institution's records for a joint account when distributing funds for the joint account in accordance with Subsection (1)(a).

29 {~~(b)~~} (c) If there are two or more surviving parties under Subsection (1)(a) , their respective ownerships during

30 lifetime shall be in proportion to their previous ownership interests under Section 75-6-103

31 augmented by an equal share for each survivor of any interest the decedent may have owned in

Mr. President: April 19, 2021

A member of the Compassionate Use Board has resigned her position and the Utah Department of Health would like the Utah State Senate to consider voting to confirm Dr. Carey Wilson as the new board member. Dr. Meghan Ward resigned her Board membership due to her plans to move outside of Utah.

The purpose of this letter is to request the State Senate's immediate consideration of confirmation of Dr. Carey Wilson to the Board.

Utah Code 26–61a–105 (1) establishes the qualifications for Compassionate Use Board membership. They include registration as a qualified medical provider with the Department of Health's Center for Medical Cannabis, knowledge about medicinal use of cannabis, professional licensure in Utah as a physician, and board certification.

Dr. Carey Wilson meets the requirements for licensure, board certification, and knowledge of medical cannabis as outlined in the Act. Dr. Carey Wilson is a Pediatric Neurologist and Epileptologist at the University of Utah Hospital and is Assistant Professor at the University of Utah in the Department of Pediatrics. She received her medical degree from State University of New York, Upstate Medical University. Dr. Carey Wilson is board certified by the American Board of Psychiatry & Neurology with special qualifications in child neurology and epilepsy. Her curriculum vitae is attached for your consideration.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of Dr. Carey Wilson as a Board appointee.

Dr. Sarah Woolsey
Division Director, Division of Family Health and Preparedness
