SIXTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE of the
STATE OF UTAH
GENERAL SESSION
FIRST DAY

MORNING SESSION

House Chamber
State Capitol
Salt Lake City, Utah
January 17, 2023

The House was called to order by former Speaker of the House, Nolan Karras.

PRAYER BY DIETER F. UCHTDORF,
QUORUM OF THE TWELVE APOSTLES
CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Oh God our Heavenly Father, on this very beautiful day of a new year and a new beginning, we give thanks to thee for the blessings of freedom, the beauties and richness of this state and country, for the goodness and perseverance of thy people, and the generations who went before; especially for those who established this state with many sacrifices. And we thank thee for thy guiding hand in it all. Today we pray with hearts filled with hope for all who have been elected by the people to govern this great State of Utah. Bless all House members, all Senators, the Governor, and the members of the Judicial Branch and all of their families. Bless them with wisdom and grace, with courage, with foresight, with integrity and charity. Bless them with a vision to strengthen this state and its people; to care and protect its natural and human resources and to bring prosperity, peace, and unity to this community and to this land. Have thy spirit guide them to fulfill their obligation to the laws of the land, to thy laws, to the people, and especially to future generations.

Oh God, thou has entrusted us for the care of this great land. Protect us from confusion, arrogance, self righteousness, pride, and greed. Bless us with a sound mind, a kind heart, and mutual respect. Make our righteous hopes become reality. Fill our hearts with thankfulness and humility. Bless us with a desire to trust in thee and thy goodness. For this we pray in the name of the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

The Posting of Colors was performed by the Joint Color Guard of the Utah National Guard. The Color Guard consisted of the following members: Sergeant First Class Zachary Hyde, Sergeant Maurice Manns II, Specialist Westin Barlow, and Specialist Leonard Dejong.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Liz Peck, daughter of Speaker Brad Wilson.

The Utah Symphony brass musicians: Travis Peterson, Trumpet; Jeff Luke, Trumpet; Edmund Rollett, French Horn; Samuel Elliot, Trombone; Alexander Purdy, Tuba; performed the National Anthem and two other musical numbers: Passameze and Courante by Michael Praetorius.

Former Speaker Nolan Karras announced that Megan Selin Allen has been appointed as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives for the 2023 – 2024 term by Speaker–elect Brad Wilson.

The Chief Clerk, Megan Selin Allen, read the following:

The Chief Clerk announced that the THIRTY–FIRST DISTRICT: County of Salt Lake is vacant.

Former Speaker Nolan Karras administered the Oath of Office to the re–elected and newly–elected members of the House of Representatives.

Roll call showed all members present.

On motion of Representative Angela Romero, the House voted to nominate Brad R. Wilson as Speaker of the House for the 65th Legislature.

On motion of Representative Mike Schultz, the House voted to elect Brad Wilson, by acclamation, as Speaker of the House for the 65th Legislature.

Former Speaker Nolan Karras administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Brad R. Wilson.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER BRAD R. WILSON

Everyone has moments in life when a decision has a profound impact.

I can no longer deny that I have reached a “certain age,” or as Arthur Brooks would say, I am on the “second curve of life.”

This smacks you right in the face – suddenly your kids are launching; family roles are changing; career options are shifting– Some of you know what I’m talking about.

For just a moment, I’d like each of you to take just a minute to think about a pivotal time in your life – when a decision you made (or that someone else made) had a lasting impact.

It’s out of my comfort zone, but I would like to share one of those moments that profoundly impacted my life and the lives of my family over 40 years ago. As a ten year old in the spring of 1979, when I was sporting my mullet and had buck teeth that would make a rabbit jealous, my family found itself in a whirlwind of change.

That year, my mom – who had been a full–time homemaker for over a decade – suddenly found herself a single mom–of–five, in a new home, without a job to help pay the bills. As the oldest in our family, I know she had many sleepless nights full of uncertainty and fear.

But the big changes for our family were just beginning.

A short time later, mom came into my room and let me know there was more change on the horizon. She had learned her old high school boyfriend had also found himself as a single parent raising his five kids. Mom had re–connected with Roger and found they were not only both dealing with the challenges of single parenting, but they also still had a lot in common.

Well, fast forward to Pioneer Day that summer. Mom and Roger tied the knot and we made room in our home for a new father figure and five new siblings we had met just weeks earlier. It was like the Brady Bunch on steroids.

A few weeks after my new siblings settled in, my step–dad, Roger, went off to work... in Brazil. Roger worked six months a year off the coast of Rio de Janeiro for an oil company.

That August, I watched mom get to work registering the ten of us for school, shopping at JCPenney for back-to-school clothes, and doing her best to blend two families into one. Obviously there's a lot more to how we all grew up together, traveled together, destroyed the house and cars together, and shared two bathrooms between ten kids.

That was the beginning of many exciting and memorable times we've had as a family. Like any family we've shared good times and bad. Weddings, divorces, growing families and loved ones passing away.

You can see that a few important choices decades ago have had lasting and profound impacts on dozens upon dozens of lives. In turn, those decisions impacted me and, to one extent or another, everyone I interact with.

Big and small... good, bad, and necessary...decisions are made that create a ripple effect. And sometimes, the really big ones have an outsized impact.

Coming into this session, it has become crystal clear to me that as a state, and by extension, as elected representatives, we stand at one of those rare moments where our choices will ripple for generations.

We have arrived at this point through a once-in-a-century confluence of events:

- Being the fastest growing state in America
- A worldwide pandemic
- An historic drought and
- An unprecedented budget surplus

I cannot say it more clearly – and I don't think it is hyperbole...The decisions we will make this session will define Utah's next decade and beyond!

There are three policy areas, in particular, that will require our best thinking, our honest debate, and our determination to seize the opportunity and meet the challenge before us:

- First: Stewardship, particularly of our water, public lands and energy
- Second: Affordability as it relates to housing, taxes, and preventing government overreach
- And third: Investment, especially in transportation and education.
- As we move Utah down the right path in these three areas, our state and all Utahns will benefit for many, many years to come.

I'd like to share some of my thoughts about the big decisions we face.

As Utahns, we all share in the sacred stewardship of our great state. We use the word stewardship because it implies taking care of something throughout the time it is entrusted to our care and leaving it better for those who come after us.

Current and future generations need our best thinking and our cooperation as we address issues related to water, energy, and Utah's incredible lands.

Utah has the distinction of being both one of the fastest-growing and driest states in the country. That leaves little room for error in how we manage our growth and our water. If we fail to lead courageously our state will not continue its growth, future generations will have to find somewhere else to live and the cherished lifestyle we all enjoy will be at risk.

This has been a wet winter so far – and that is great. But one winter alone won't wash away two dry decades. The ongoing drought, our management of state water, increased resources for Southern Utah, and preservation of the Great Salt Lake are top priorities for this House. Let's build upon last year's considerable policy success to encourage conservation and provide resources to help Utahns do their part to safeguard Utah's water.

Stewardship also includes care for Utah's public lands, which provide beauty, abundant outdoor recreation, and a rich supply of natural resources. We must ensure our lands are managed in a way that provides benefits for Utahns today and for generations to come.

Our stewardship efforts extend beyond water conservation and public lands. As good stewards, we must mitigate the damage caused by foolish federal policies. Utahns rightfully shake their heads, confused by the Biden Administration's energy policy that forces production cuts of proven energy sources for Utahns while rushing to rely on renewable energy with complete disregard for reality.

The fact is, while showing real promise, wind, solar and the collection of renewable options are simply unable to produce enough energy to power Utah homes and businesses.

Case in point: the latest rule on Ozone Transfer from the federal government will force early closures of Utah power plants – putting reliable, affordable, and dispatchable power at significant risk in the next few years. Because the Administration hasn't been able to pass their agenda legislatively, their assault on our energy continues through rule making. Utah's measured, all-of-the-above energy policy has powered decades of prosperity by providing the most reliable energy at the most affordable prices in the country.

We don't scoff at new energy technologies, but unlike other states, we know what it takes to keep the lights on today while we develop new technologies and reliable energy for the future. This Legislature will fight for a responsible energy policy that embraces efficiency and is based in reality.

Let's stand in the way of the federal government's egregious power grab and, at the same time, make moonshot investments in energy research and workforce development to prepare for Utah's energy future.

Our second focus is Affordability. An affordable Utah is vital to the long-term prosperity of our people.

By any measure, Utah's economy is strong – among the best in the nation. But living here is becoming too expensive for far too many, thanks in large part to federal money-printing policies that are driving record inflation.

The average cost of a home in Sevier County (as Representative Albrecht can attest) has risen by over 49 percent in just the last year. It is impossible to ignore the sharp increase in Utah housing prices the past several years. For many young adults and those starting families, the idea of a starter home has become something they've heard about but have never really seen – a lot like a fax machine or a landline.

Joining us on the House floor today is the Meyer family: Ty, Allie, and their one-year-old son, Knox, and another brother on the way. The Meyers live in Representative Matt Gwynn's district. Ty and Allie have felt firsthand the devastating impacts of rising costs, and out-of-reach home ownership. Ty works full time and is rising through the ranks of his company, while Allie works part time because childcare costs more than she would earn working full time.

Rent increases forced Ty and Allie to move out of their house. For over a year, they have been looking without success for a new home of their own that fits a middle class budget. The Meyers want to live in Utah. They appreciate our values and they want their boys to grow up near their family. But when you add high gas prices and the inflated cost of groceries to Utah's expensive housing and childcare... you can see how a family doing everything you could ask of them – view the American Dream as something always just out of reach.

Ty and Allie, you are not an isolated case. Across our state, thousands face the same challenges. And we have your back. It's a problem for buyers, it's a problem for sellers, and it's a problem for renters. It's a problem along the Wasatch Front, in southern Utah and in rural Utah.

The problem is high interest rates.

The problem is over-regulation.

The problem is simply a housing shortage.

Some of these problems we have no control over, but when it comes to over-regulation, there is something that can be done. Local governments are at the forefront of critical decisions that impact our housing supply... and some are doing it very well.

In Ogden, Mayor Mike Caldwell is taking an innovative approach to affordable housing. Already, nearly 65 percent of all affordable housing in Weber County is in Ogden. Ogden is now working to convert older hotels and motels to multi-family housing and has plans to use school district land to build more affordable housing.

Mayor Caldwell is here with us on the House floor today. Mayor, thank you for your work on this issue. At the northern end of Davis County, Clearfield sits along the southwest side of Hill Air Force Base. Utah's robust aerospace and defense industry makes up 12 percent of our economy and Clearfield faces all the housing challenges that come with it.

Over the last three years, Clearfield has built over 1,700 attainably priced homes, the most in Davis County.

Clearfield Mayor Mark Shepherd is also with us today. Mayor Shepherd, we applaud the work you have done and we thank you for serving as a strong example and an effective case study as we address this issue.

Finally, Mayor Dawn Ramsey of South Jordan is here. Her city alone has built over 2,300 single-family and 2,800 multi-family homes since 2019. Her collaborative approach to governing and working with the private sector is paying dividends for her residents as community amenities and transportation solutions are flooding into her city.

Mayor Ramsey, Mayor Shepherd, and Mayor Caldwell... this session we're going to take a long look at how you've approached your respective housing challenges to see how we can extend your success to other parts of the state. Thank you for your leadership.

On this important issue, these three outstanding leaders have taken a head-on and hands-on approach and we thank them – but our housing crisis is a statewide issue and we need all local governments to follow the lead of these and other cities that recognize the problem and provide solutions – rather than hurdles – to those supplying houses for the people of Utah.

Representatives, the best way to ensure Utahns can continue to call Utah home is to allow them to keep more of their hard-earned money in their pockets.

Over the past five years, we have cut taxes by $325 million.

$325 million dollars. And we're just getting started.

To the people of Utah: You will see historic tax cuts this session.

Our third focus is Investment and I'll highlight two areas where it matters most: transportation and education. Utah's economic strength and population growth comes as no surprise. Our top-ranked economy, natural wonders, and creative problem-solving not only attract new people to our state, but make the people who live here never want to leave.

That means our investment in the future is more important than ever before.

For example, the transition to electric vehicles demands adaptation in our infrastructure and transportation funding. And our growth means that we must invest in roads, transit, and active transportation so we can all spend more time at our destination and less time getting there. Of course, the point of investing is to get a return... and there is no greater return on investment than educating our children. Education inspires upward mobility, fosters innovation, and opens the door to prosperity.

However, our schools are only as good as the teachers we entrust our children to each day. We have thousands of incredible educators but we cannot ignore the fact that 42 percent of Utah teachers leave the profession within their first five years, and rural districts feel the impact of teacher shortages even more. We can make a teaching career more desirable and allow good teachers to do what they do best – teach.

It's no surprise that compensation is a major reason so many teachers leave the profession. And we're going to change that. This year, let's give Utah teachers their largest pay raise in the history of our state – and let's make sure that increase goes directly to their paychecks.

It's not just our teachers who need our help. Unfortunately, many of our teens are struggling. As a House, let's work to provide additional mental health resources to Utah's rising generation by providing funds for teen centers across the state.

And while we wish school safety required nothing more than a responsible adult to keep kids from sticking their tongues to a frozen flagpole, sadly the world we live in requires significant effort and investment to keep our kids safe. We will implement policies and fund initiatives to improve school safety across our state.

Representatives, I strongly believe that when it comes to education, one size does not fit all.

We can educate every student and empower parents to make informed choices about how their children are educated. Let's provide all students and their parents – regardless of their zip code, wealth, or abilities – the opportunity to learn in a way that makes sense for them and make sure Utah Fits All.

And those are just some of the issues we will deal with this session. Experience tells us we must expect the unexpected.

In recent years, we have seen issues that – at the time – seemed improbable to require our attention, then be thrust into the spotlight.

In 2020, we passed a trigger law on the chance Roe v. Wade was overturned. The decision by the Supreme Court last year rightfully shifted authority from the courts, back to the states. While we wait on a decision from the Utah Supreme Court, we must work to make legislative intent crystal clear before this session concludes.

Likewise, we were proven wise to address the importance of election integrity through the recent legislative audit.

Upholding the election process is key to our democracy, and our state will continue to provide proper oversight and ensure election integrity. Utah has high standards for elections because we proactively look for ways to improve our process and build trust.

So, you can see we've got our work cut out for us.

Throughout our state's history – and even dating back to our time as a territory – Utahns have embraced the spirit of taking the long view. Hard work is our hallmark and we're not afraid of doing the hard thing today to make tomorrow a little better.

It's something I know we all take great pride in – and we should.

Preparing for a stormy day has served us well in the past and will in the future.

Laying a foundation and building upon it with consistent effort and unwavering dedication have also served us well. We are now positioned to capitalize on unprecedented opportunity.

Recalling the words of Irish playwright, George Bernard Shaw:

“My life belongs to the community, and as long as I live, it is my privilege to do for it whatever I can. I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work, the more I live. Life is no ‘brief candle’ to me. It is a splendid torch which I have got hold of for a moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it on to the future generations.”

For the next 45 days let's burn as brightly as possible...

The decisions we make this session will define our next decade and beyond...

It will impact the lives of every Utahn.

Let's get to work.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Jefferson Moss, the House voted to print Speaker Wilson's remarks and the prayer given by Elder Uchtdorf upon the pages of the House Journal.

On motion of Representative Jen Dailey-Provost, the House voted to authorize Speaker Wilson to appoint a committee to meet with a like committee from the Senate to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the Legislature is organized and ready to receive any communication or message he may have to offer. Speaker Wilson appointed Representatives Jon Hawkins, Judy Rohner, and Ashlee Matthews.

On motion of Representative Karianne Lisonbee, the House voted to authorize Speaker Wilson to appoint a committee to notify the Senate to inform that Honorable Body that the House is organized and ready to do business. Speaker Wilson appointed Representatives Norm Thurston, Walt Brooks, and Andrew Stoddard.

On motion of Representative Casey Snider, the House voted, by a two-thirds majority, to adopt House Rules, Joint Rules, and Interim Rules as were adopted by the 2022 Third Special Session of the 64th Legislature, until such time as new rules may be adopted by the 2023 General Session of the 65th Legislature.

On motion of Representative Casey Snider, and as allowed by the Utah Constitution and the Joint Rules of the Legislature, the House voted, by a two-thirds majority, to continue its practice of reading only the short title of bills and resolutions as they are introduced or considered on a House calendar and not read the long title of the bills and resolutions, unless a majority of the House directs the reading of the long title of any House or Senate bill or resolution.

Senators Scott Sandall, Dan McCay, and Nate Blouin formally notified the House that the Senate was organized and ready to do business.

Representative Hawkins reported that his committee, with a like committee from the Senate, had waited upon the Governor and informed him that the Legislature was organized and ready to do business. The Governor will address the Legislature and the citizens of Utah on Thursday, January 19, 2023 at 6:30 p.m.

Representative Thurston reported that his committee had waited upon the Senate and informed them that the House of Representatives was organized and ready to do business.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Schultz, and at 12:00 p.m., the House voted to recess until 2:15 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Joint Convention was called to order by President Adams at 2:20 p.m.

On motion of Senator Vickers, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole, with the President and Speaker as Chair, for the purpose of hearing from Chief Justice Matthew Durrant.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW DURRANT

It is a privilege to report to you this afternoon on the state of our judiciary. The eagle-eyed among you will notice that our Court looks a little bit different. That's because over the course of the past year, two of our members have left the Court to rejoin private practice, Justice Thomas Lee and Justice Deno Himonas. They were excellent jurists and served the Court and the state with great distinction.

They have been replaced by two excellent jurists in their own right, Justice Diana Hagen and Justice Jill Pohlman. And thank you for your unanimous confirmation of these remarkable individuals.

These two, with the addition of Justice Petersen, make up our state's first female majority Supreme Court, which, for me, is quite a wonderful development and something the entire state can be proud of.

So those three justices make up the historic wing of our court. Justice Pearce and I constitute the old guy wing. And Justice Pearce, I'm sure, is not pleased to be lumped in with me as an old guy, but it does seem like an almost another lifetime ago that he was sworn in as a justice on our court.

I remember his ceremony well. I spoke, and he spoke. I was boring; he was interesting and hilarious, as is his custom. He's a masterful speaker.

And that evening the Pearce's hosted a reception at their home. I was minding my own business in a corner when I saw a fellow making a beeline for me. He held his hand out and introduced himself; he said he was from California. Then he turned serious. He said, "Mr. Chief Justice, I have to say, I was quite disturbed by one part of your talk."

I said, "Really? I didn't think it was especially controversial."

He said, "Well, you claim that the Utah Supreme Court is as strong as any in the country. Do you really believe that?"

"As a matter of fact, I do," I said.

Then he said, "You think you're better than the California Supreme Court?" I said, "I've never really seen it as a competition, and they are an excellent Supreme Court, but, yeah, I think we compare pretty favorably, even with the California Supreme Court. And with the addition of Justice Pearce now, I feel as confident as ever in making that statement."

And he said, "Well, you know, the California Supreme Court has Justice Goodwin Liu." Goodwin Liu is a noted legal scholar. Then, he said, "I know John Pearce and he's a fine person, but John Pearce is no Goodwin Liu."

Well, I found this rather amusing and was eager to share it with John Pearce, who also found it quite amusing. But I think he probably found it a little less so when, for several months, I seldom missed an opportunity to compare him to Goodwin Liu. He'd make a point. I'd say, "Good point, John, but I can't help think Goodwin Liu would have made it so much better."

So, yes, I have an annoying personality, but I stand by my statement even more so than ever today. Here's my case. Here's my evidence.

Justice Pearce, however he may compare with Goodwin Liu, is off-the-charts brilliant. He writes not only in a persuasive and clear way, but he is the rarest of appellate judges. He writes opinions that are actually engaging and interesting. If you've only read my opinions, you probably think all judicial opinions are supposed to be boring. He's served with great distinction on our Court of Appeals before joining our Court and is a superb jurist.

Justice Paige Peterson cut her teeth prosecuting mobsters in the Southern District of New York, our most famous U.S. Attorney's Office. And then because, I suppose that wasn't scary enough, she went on to prosecute war criminals in The Hague. So, she is as delightful and kind human being as you'll ever meet, but she's also as tough as nails, a beautiful writer and a superb jurist.

Justice Diana Hagen was a celebrated prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office here in Utah. She was responsible for some of Utah's most famous cases ever. Then she went to the Court of Appeals where she served with great distinction. She's a person of many talents. One that really stands out is that she is a remarkable oral advocate. You may wonder why that matters in an appellate judge. Well, we debate our cases. And I often sit in awe at her oral advocacy skills.

Justice Jill Pohlman is a self-confessed law nerd, and I think that's part of what makes her such a meticulous scholar. She has the superpower of being able to go right to the heart of even the most complicated issues and to bring order to the chaos of even the most complicated cases. She has a remarkable mind. So, those are my colleagues.

Now, as long as I'm bragging about the judges, let me just say our Court of Appeals is great. And I think our district and juvenile court judges in the state system are superb as well. I think they compare with any judges in the country. And I know that sounds like hometown cheerleading, but, in part, should be credited to this body.

In 1985, you passed and citizens approved a revision to the judicial article which included a couple of important things. One gave us a judicial council form of government which helps us, as a court system, to be very innovative and forward looking. And it gave us a nonpartisan selection process that is based exclusively on merit. That selection process has come to be as rigorous as any in the country.

As part of the process, applicants identify all the lawyers they've had cases with, all the lawyers they've had cases against, and the judges before whom they have appeared. Those individuals are sent surveys where they are asked to rate the judicial candidate. They do so on a confidential basis, so they can be just as brutal as they want, if they are so inclined. Bottom line is that unless a lawyer has developed a reputation for integrity, fair-mindedness, hard work, and legal acumen, he or she is not going to become a Utah State Court Judge.

As for the judicial council form of government, one of the benefits of that is our judiciary has become a national model--that is how the director of the National Center for State Courts has described us. Utah is the national and international model.

Okay. Now, I'd like to talk about the relationship between our two branches of government. We all know that we're seeing extraordinary levels of polarization in our society. And we've seen an increase in distrust of our institutions, including yours and mine.

Please just know this: I personally, and our judges, have an enormous respect for you, our state's elected policymakers, for you and for your constitutional role.

I also have a great deal of respect for your current leaders, President Adams and Speaker Wilson. They are dedicated to serving citizens and promoting good government. This is not a comment on politics. It is a comment on leadership. They serve with dignity, and I think their leadership is reflected in this body as a whole.

Now, there's a natural tension in our relationship because we are called upon to review your work. Our guiding principle is always your intent. You pass policy that is most often reflected in statute. We review those statutes to ascertain your intent. Usually, they are crystal clear. You have fine lawyers. You review them yourselves. But on occasion an ambiguity slips in. That's not a criticism. It could be said of our opinions as well. We often get the chance to go back and clarify something that we did not make clear initially.

When there is an ambiguity, it is not an open door for us to jump in and substitute our own policy preference for yours. You are elected by the people to be the policymakers for this state, not us. And so, in interpreting that ambiguity, our goal is to find your most likely intent.

Now, on occasion, not that often, but on occasion, statutes are challenged as unconstitutional. In other words, they are challenged on the ground that in passing them you have exceeded the limits of your authority as set by the people through the constitution.

Here again, a constitutional challenge is not an excuse for us to substitute our own personal preference over yours; it is merely to make our best judgment as to the statute's constitutionality.

Now, we know you are doing your best to pass constitutional statutes. You, like us, have taken an oath to support, obey, and defend the constitution. But on occasion, we will disagree. That's our role, and we cannot shirk it. It doesn't mean that we think the policy reflected in the statute is a bad one; we might completely agree with it, a statute we find unconstitutional, or we might disagree on a personal level with the statute that we find constitutional.

So, you will, no doubt, disagree with our opinions. You will, no doubt, on occasion, disagree with our interpretations of your intent or our assessment of a statute's constitutionality. That's to be expected. Just know that we are earnestly striving to obey our oath and to discharge the responsibilities that have devolved upon us.

And there's another aspect to our relationship, and it's a very cooperative one. You often pass statutes that assist us in better serving Utah's citizens, and we work together to bring about the policy objectives, your policy objectives, as reflected in statute.

A couple of quick examples. In 2019, you passed a statute and directed us to develop a process for creating automatic expungements of cases, in certain categories of cases, where individuals are eligible because they've gone crime free for a certain number of years. We've worked together to bring that about.

It's been a huge lift, a huge technological lift, but as of February of last year, we have started the process. There have now been over 200,000 automatic expungements. It's really a one-of-a-kind feature of our system.

You also passed a statute last year directing us to develop a process for deferred traffic prosecutions. Again, we worked cooperatively to develop a system for that, an algorithm. And so now we're in a position to make that program work. It allows people who have been cited with a traffic ticket to avoid going to court, pay the fine, and avoid going to court. And if they have no further traffic citations during a year, it's dropped from their record. So, thank you for helping us serve Utah's citizens and making justice more accessible to them.

Now, we also are going down the similar path with respect to regulatory reform. You have created a business regulatory sandbox where you're willing, on a targeted basis, to relax certain regulations in order to spur entrepreneurship and competition. We are engaged in a similar effort with respect to legal regulations.

We have, as I mentioned to you before, a severe access to justice gap in our country. I'm not talking about big court cases or even little court cases. I'm mostly talking about legal issues that pop up outside of court, kind of everyday-type things that we all encounter. An issue with a contract or with an insurance claim or with applying for disability, whatever it might be.

Now, we have great lawyers in this state, and they are especially given to giving of their time freely to those who can't afford legal help; we call that "pro bono legal services," and they are to be commended. But we have learned, as has been said, we can't pro bono our way out of this huge access to justice gap.

Now, we have these regulations in place in the law in order to protect consumers. So, we're running this pilot project to see if we can find more ways to get legal help to people while still protecting consumers. We're doing that in a couple of ways.

One, we're allowing nonlawyers to practice law. An example of that is a sexual assault crisis counseling center down in Utah County. They have trained their counselors to give legal advice in assisting their clients to obtain protective orders or stalking injunctions.

They are smart people. They can learn the law in this narrow area. They are not lawyers; that takes three hard years of law school. And as I said, we've got great lawyers in this state. But they can be trained to give adequate, legal advice in that area.

Another example, Holy Cross Ministries provides debt counseling service. They have applied and trained their people to provide certain limited legal services in that context. Again, they are not full-blown lawyers, but in that area, they can be adequately trained.

That's one way we're trying to get more legal help to more people. The other way is we're trying to give lawyers more freedom in how they structure their law businesses. Under our current regulations, you cannot partner with a nonlawyer. Well, through the sandbox, they can. They can partner with a financial services firm, if they think that works for them in achieving efficiencies and better serving clients. They can partner with a technology firm. We'd love to see more technological innovation in the legal space. Think TurboTax writ large.

Now, we're also working hard to measure any harm to consumers. We require regular reporting. We have a robust complaint process that sandbox participants are required to make very clear to those people they serve, and we have an audit program as well.

Now, there are those who are critical of this, and I respect their views. These are big changes and they are unsettling. We are listening to that criticism. We've incorporated some of it. I anticipate we will incorporate more of it. It's something I'm very excited about.

We've approved 47 entities now. They've provided roughly 35,000 legal services to Utahns, with 24,000 discrete consumers.

Okay. I'm afraid we've gotten to the part of the speech that is uncomfortable, at least for me, and that's where I ask you for money. Here are our judicial council priorities.

We hope you will fund a salary increase for judges. It's been about six years since we've had a significant increase, increase over COLA. Last year, we specifically decided, as a judicial council, not to seek an increase because we felt it was so important that our judicial assistants receive pay raises. You graciously gave us that money and it's been very helpful to our judiciary.

So, this year we've made it our first priority. And we're facing an interesting phenomenon in the Salt Lake legal market. I'm sure many of you are familiar with this. We've seen more and more large, international law firms or national law firms create satellite offices in Salt Lake.

There are a number of reasons for that. Part of it is your fault because we have a great economy, a well-managed state. Also, we've got a beautiful state. And we've got great lawyers and two superb law schools.

And with the now high level of comfort that people feel in communicating remotely in the wake of the pandemic, many people, many businesses, including law firms, have realized, "Hey, we can serve our big coastal clients right here in this beautiful place." And we've got a ready, willing, and able workforce, and we can attract others because it is such a great place to live. So, it's caught on like wildfire and salaries have gone through the roof.

Now, that's great for attorneys, not so great for the judiciary, because we are competing for these top lawyers. Now will we ever be able to pay as much as these private firms pay? Not even close. It's just not doable. But people are willing to sacrifice to be judges, make a financial sacrifice to be judges. It's a great job. There's a high level of psychic income. You have a sense of service. You have a sense of contribution, a sense of being involved in a noble effort, a noble mission.

So, we're only going to get people who are willing to make a sacrifice, but there's a limit to that willingness, and it's just a simple matter of economics that the more we can pay, the more applicants we can attract and the more judges we can retain.

We've lost some great people in our judiciary to private practice. I think this will only get worse if we don't see a significant pay raise. We're having a lot of difficulty attracting people because of -- in part because of what salaries have done. We've seen in some cases half the applicants we used to see. So, we hope you will see fit to give us a pay raise, provide money for a pay raise.

The Judicial and Elected Compensation Commission has graciously recommended a 10 percent pay increase. We're very appreciative of that, but I have to tell you: I think that to really move the needle in a significant way, it probably ought to be something more in the way of 15 to 20 percent range. I leave that to your wisdom.

Request No. 2, we need an additional juvenile court judge in the Fourth District. We have five judges doing the work, by our calculation, of 6.8 judges.

And we'd like you to fund an attorney to revise and create legal forms. We have thousands of users, many of them pro se, of the legal forms we provide. It's an important service that we provide.

We'd also like you to fund a domestic violence program coordinator. The importance of that is obvious.

We're also requesting funding for a tribal outreach coordinator.

And we'd like a coordinator for our online dispute resolution program.

We're also requesting funding for our software platforms.

And finally, we're asking for additional funding to lease additional space in Heber. We just have one courtroom there. We all know how much Wasatch County is growing; we'd like additional courtroom space.

Okay. Those are our requests. I recognize you may not be able to fund all of these, but I hope you'll see fit to come close.

Let me just conclude by saying thank you for your service. I know that you do it at considerable financial and time sacrifice. And I know you do it for Utah citizens. As a citizen, I thank you.

May you have a wonderfully productive session. Thank you.

THIRD DAY JANUARY 19, 2023

MORNING SESSION

The House was called to order by Speaker Wilson at 11:00 a.m.

Roll call showed all members present.

Prayer offered by David Hollins, Deacon from Calvary Missionary Baptist Church. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Randall Serr, Chair of the Utah Hispanic Chamber. Both are guests of Representative Sandra Hollins.

On motion of Representative Acton, the House voted to print today's prayer upon the pages of the House Journal.

PRAYER BY DAVID HOLLINS

Our Father which art in heaven. Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Most gracious Heavenly Father, we come to you again thanking you for another day that was not promised. But you have given us another day to glorify you. Lord, as we give you praise, thank you for allowing us to be great servants and stewards over your people and their care in this great state of Utah and holding us accountable for all things that we have not done. We ask for your forgiveness. We all have sin and come short of your glory for your grace and mercy is sufficient. Heavenly Father, under the sound of my voice, bless and keep our Governor, Speaker of the House, Speaker of the Senate and their families, as well as all the representatives and senators, interns and all the people who will be servicing them during these 40 plus days.

Lord, open the hearts and mind of your servants who are in position as they protect your people and render the service to help others as they struggle with life, addition, trauma, homelessness, and hopelessness. Lord, you said in your words, we are to love one another and not judge. So as we work together here in your house, give us your insight to do just that – love. For these grounds we stand on are holy. Bless and keep us. Thank you in advance for your mighty power and what is to come as we praise you. We love you Lord. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen

On motion of Representative Schultz, and at 11:50 a.m., the House voted to adjourn until January 20, 2023, at 11:00 a.m.

JOINT CONVENTION

President J. Stuart Adams called the Joint Convention to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Brad R. Wilson, Speaker of the House.

President Adams announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Adams appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Evan Vickers, Ann Millner, and Luz Escamilla, and Representatives Mike Schultz, Jefferson Moss, and Angela Romero to notify Governor Spencer J. Cox that the 2023 General Session of the Sixty-Fifth Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State-of-the-State address.

President Adams acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Evan Vickers made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Cox's State-of-the-State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Cox to the House rostrum.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR SPENCER J. COX

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Madame Lt. Governor and to Utah's public servants and my fellow Utahns gathered here tonight: Welcome.

Since 1852, territorial and state governors have been delivering a State of the State message in Utah, but this is the first time that elected officials in the Legislature have been accompanied on the House floor by their children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews and other young family members.

Abby and I are joined this evening by our youngest daughter, Emma Kate. I will warn each of you that she received her Utah driver's license just a few weeks ago. Should any legislator within the sound of my voice tonight choose to run a bill changing the legal driving age to 21, I know a governor very interested in signing that bill. I did promise her I would try to limit the number of dad jokes.

In all seriousness, it is to this group of very special guests — the youth of our great state — that I wish to direct my remarks this evening.

We have much to cover in a short amount of time, and so I'll ask again like I did last year to please hold any applause until the end of the speech, no matter how difficult that may be.

Faith, not fear

I'd like to focus my remarks tonight on one well-worn line in our nation's Declaration of Independence. I hope you are all familiar with this foundational and revolutionary idea: that we are all endowed by our Creator with the unalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

In particular, I want to focus on that last right: the pursuit of happiness. You see, it isn't government's role to give you happiness, but it is government's job to protect your right to pursue it.

Unfortunately, researchers from the University of Chicago recently reported that for the first time since the survey began almost 50 years ago, more Americans reported being "not too happy" than "very happy."

Recent polling tells us that more young people than ever before believe that, for the first time in our nation's history, their generation will be worse off than their parents. Many people seem to be accepting it as a fact that any efforts to create a better world are futile, as if some sort of slouching towards mediocrity — or worse — is inevitable.

I know that many of the challenges of our day weigh heavily on your generation.

As hard as it is to believe, your moms and dads and grandparents seated next to you tonight were once young, too. I grew up in the '80s and '90s, and we worried about a lot of things you probably can't relate to:

We were hiding under our desks to practice for the nuclear bombs we were sure Communist Russia was sending our way — as if those desks would have provided any protection. We worried about overpopulation, acid rain, and — it's true — the Great Salt Lake destroying homes and businesses in the floods — yes, floods — of 1983.

We hung out at the 49th Street Galleria and the Delta Center — that's right, the Delta Center — and worried about someone scratching our brand new CD, the world shutting down thanks to Y2K, or accidentally calling long distance when it wasn't a night or a weekend.

But one thing scared us the most was something known as the hole in the ozone layer.

Due to our state's unique geography and demographics, we were told that the consequences of this environmental disaster would be especially dire in Utah. With a population of only 2 million people, one local newspaper reported that more than half of us, an estimated 1.2 million Utahns, would contract a life-changing cancer. Farmers and others who work outdoors were said to be especially at risk with one report warning that even sheep were likely to go blind (which, if you've ever spent much time around sheep, you know would have been hard to detect — right, Rep. Chew?).

We eventually found out that the culprit of the problem was chlorofluorocarbons, or CFCs, which at the time were found in many products such as aerosol cans — most notably, hairspray. Some people wondered why we had such great hair in the '80s. Well, my friends, we discovered that great hair comes at a great price.

Sometimes I miss those days, and I definitely miss that hair.

If you haven't heard much about the hole in the ozone lately, that's probably because we've been busy fixing it and good news doesn't seem to sell as well as gloom and doom. The world came together with the United States leading the way and our planet is restoring that critical part of our atmosphere.

While these particular issues and many others from my own childhood may not be familiar to each of you, there is a common root in all of them — fear.

A former U.S. president famously called fear the “nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance.”

Oh, and fear destroys happiness.

To every young person today grappling with fear, I want to speak to you. Whether it be fear of finding a good career or a home you can afford to buy. Or fear of a planet in peril, or attacks on democracy — at home or abroad, or the effects of inflation. Or fear of any of the other crazy things in our society today.

If there is one message that I could give to you, it is this: The future of our state is not written in the stars. It is for us, the free men and women of Utah, to dictate our destiny.

If I could turn your fears into one thing, it would be faith. I don’t mean faith in the religious sense, although I am a proponent of that, too. I mean faith in good things to come. Faith in us and faith in yourselves. Faith in our capacity and commitment to solve today’s hard problems together. Faith in a future worth being excited about.

To anyone who believes that the next generation in Utah will be worse off than their parents, my message is simple: not now, not on our watch.

Teachers

Let me begin with the place where you spend most of your day: the classroom. To those in the room tonight who had the terrible once-in-a-century luck of attending school in the middle of a global pandemic, you proudly led Utah as the only state in the nation where middle school math and reading scores did not decrease during COVID-19. You have proven your resilience time and time again despite the unprecedented challenges you’ve had to face.

And you weren’t alone. The data is clear. The largest variable in student outcomes is the quality of the teacher. I have said this many times, and I will say it again: If we ran an experiment with two identical students, and you let me pick the teacher, and I let you pick everything else: the school, the curriculum, the books, the software and electronics, the administration, I will win every time.

And if we want to guarantee that we have the best teachers, we must invest in our teachers.

That is why I am asking the Legislature to help me make this the “Year of the Teacher.” Not only can we provide at least a 5% increase to the Weighted Pupil Unit, but we can also give every teacher the largest raise in our state’s history.

And one more suggestion, if I may. A small “thank you” to your teachers goes a long way. A recent poll shows that nearly every Utah parent approves of their child’s local school, with only 2% saying they view them “not at all favorably.” But I worry that our teachers haven’t felt that love from Utah’s silent majority quite like they should. Teaching was once a destination profession and it can be again. Let’s make Utah the state where the very best teachers want to live and work with our kids.

Housing

But even having the best teachers won’t matter much if young people can’t find an affordable place to live. In Utah, we want nothing more than for our kids and grandkids to live near us, but not necessarily with us.

Fortunately, this is a problem that we can solve.

I took an economics class when I was your age, and the one thing I remember is that when demand exceeds supply, prices go up. It really is that simple. If we want less expensive housing, we simply need more of it. And not just deeply affordable or low-income housing — although we certainly need that, too — but more of everything.

Sadly, we know that government decisions are one of the major drivers in the price of a home. Not just taxes and fees, but every requirement placed on a builder — including the time it takes to make those decisions — increases the cost of a home.

Tonight, I’m calling on us to change it. We can build more and do it in a way that does not diminish the quality of life. Smart density, in the right places, paired with improved infrastructure from wise investments, and a renewed emphasis on single-family starter homes — remember those? — will make certain that Utah does not become like California and that future generations will be able to call this state home.

That’s why I am excited to work with Niko Fillmore’s dad and Ruthie Whyte’s dad, the League of Cities and Towns and other stakeholders on significant legislation to ensure that we increase supply and reduce the cost of housing.

Water

Of course, even good jobs and good homes won't mean much if we are not good stewards of this beautiful place we get to call home. And any discussion of stewardship in a desert climate must start with water.

We find ourselves in the greatest drought in the western United States in over 1,200 years. Earlier this month, a report predicted that in just five short years the Great Salt Lake will completely disappear. Let me be absolutely clear. We are not going to let that happen.

Last year, your parents and grandparents in the Legislature passed 12 major water conservation bills and $500 million in new funding. And even more important, the people of Utah responded by saving billions of gallons of water in our time of need. I want to thank Ella Mauchley's grandpa and Zach Wilson's dad for their dedicated efforts on water legislation.

Now, you have heard me ask our fellow Utahns to unite in faith and prayer in asking God to help deliver us from drought. I have been mocked both at home and abroad by clever comedians and pundits in the media. But, as a man of faith, I make no excuses for my beliefs. I believe there is real power in people of all different faiths and backgrounds uniting together and pleading for help from a higher authority than our own.

I am grateful — and thank God every night — for the impressive amounts of snow we have received so far this season. Miraculously, the Great Salt Lake has already risen more than it did all last year!

A few months ago, before the first big storm, I asked my team to include $5 million in my budget proposal for flood mitigation. I didn't want to be the person to show up for a prayer meeting without my umbrella. It's too soon to know, but I sincerely hope we need that money.

So, whether you believe in God or karma or the whale at 9th and 9th, I ask again that we join together to ask for relief from this drought, all while “knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own.”

You see, I believe that God CAN fill the lake. But if not, then we must.

We have to maintain a continued focus on water conservation and agriculture optimization. To that end, I am proposing another $500 million in water conservation investment in addition to new policy changes that will reduce our per capita use.

And, if I might ask, please look beyond those that would demonize our farmers. Our farmers and ranchers are the backbone of our nation and state. They do some of the most difficult work imaginable and deserve our respect. I promise they will be a huge part of the solution, just like you and me. Let's continue to help them modernize their operations so that we can both save water and increase food production.

Social media

When it comes to our well being as a state, one of the biggest challenges facing young people is the proliferation and danger of social media. The research is now proving what most of us instinctively already know — social media and focus-destroying apps are negatively affecting the mental health of us all, but especially our youth, in profound and debilitating ways.

Beginning in 2009, mental health issues among students exploded. Emergency room visits for self-harm by young people between the ages of 10–19 skyrocketed. For young women, the number more than doubled — and that was before the pandemic.

If these types of numbers were associated with any other disease, we would be focusing every resource and effort to fix what is broken. But somehow because it is technology related, we have done almost nothing as a country.

This is unacceptable. In Utah, we're done waiting for someone else to solve the problem. To the social media companies who have been reckless in protecting our youth, Utah parents are putting you on notice. If you insist on fighting us, be assured that we are more than ready for a fight and we will win. Or you can join us and be part of the solution.

With this in mind, I am pleased to announce that we are working closely with Tanner Teuscher's dad, Kapri Cullimore's dad and yes, even Landon McKell's dad on legislation that will prevent social media companies from collecting data from our kids, limit the use of cell phones in the classroom, and empower parents to reduce this toxic technology in our homes.

Family

And speaking of our homes, it's been said that "good homes are still the best source of good humans," and I agree. Getting upstream of our biggest social issues and costs, inevitably starts with stronger families.

As you may remember, last year from this podium I proposed the creation of a new Office of Families. I am pleased to report back that the Office of Families is now operational with my talented, former opponent in the 2020 governor's race, Aimee Winder Newton, leading the charge.

In Utah, we haven't forgotten the simple truth that when families win, we all win —economically as well as socially.

There is no guesswork here. The data shows that married, family-connected Utahns earn more, produce more, save more, and contribute more than their counterparts. And young people who get at least a high school degree, get a job, marry and have kids — in that order — are far less likely to experience poverty than those who don't.

And yet, not every home is perfect. White picket fences are nice, but not always the norm. My administration's singular focus will be on the simple principle that, no matter the situation, every Utah child deserves a home filled with love and support. And I do mean every child.

Thanks to the leadership of my best friend and your first lady, Abby Cox, Utah is taking on a bold new goal. Over the coming weeks, you will hear the details of a significant plan to support current foster families and to recruit new families to open their homes and their hearts to Utah's most vulnerable children. We believe that with your help, Utah can be the first state in the nation to have no children waiting for a foster family.

Imagine that. Instead of children waiting for families, Utah will have families waiting for children — and a list of thousands of Utahns who will help those families with child care, meals, car rides and anything else they need to succeed.

And if Utah truly believes in supporting life, we must always show our commitment with more than words. That's why I am also proposing this session a first-of-its-kind tax credit for all children — the born and the unborn. We must also expand postpartum Medicaid coverage to 12 months.

And we have to do more to support victims of domestic violence and to reduce this insidious evil. I'm grateful to Maggie Hulse's aunt, my tenacious Lt. Governor, for her tireless work in this space. I also want to thank the parents of Benji Pierucci, Landon Weiler, Elyssa Ivory Anderson, Cio Cordero, and Sara Lisonbee for their indispensable work to prevent domestic violence. Please join me in supporting their legislation this year.

Taxes

One of the most important ways we can support your families, especially during difficult economic times, is to return more of your tax dollars.

Over the past two years we've already had a record $300 million tax cut. We have more money in savings than ever before. We are one of the few states with a AAA bond rating and consistently recognized among the best managed and fiscally responsible states. And, thanks to the people of our great state, we have the best economy in the country, which means we can do even more.

My philosophy is simple. I believe that Utah families can spend this surplus better than we can. And so I am proposing an historic $1 billion in tax relief for Utah families. While almost all of the levers of inflation are outside our state's control, we can and must enable Utahns to keep more of their hard-earned dollars to combat the rising cost of living.

Quality of life

We can do all of these things while finding more ways to simply serve Utahns and make their quality of life better:

With your help, we can begin to implement a bold vision to build a statewide network of trails for Utahns of all ages and abilities.

We can do more to support skills-based learning for those who don't choose to pursue a college degree and freeze tuition costs for those who do.

We can fund more mental health resources and crisis interventions in our communities.

We can modernize our IT infrastructure to improve the service we provide our citizens.

And may we always remember that sometimes the best bill is one that doesn't pass at all.

I am confident that we will accomplish all of these objectives and many more during this legislative session if those of us in elected positions keep our eye single to our children and grandchildren.

Conclusion

Now, before we conclude, I want to return to that "pursuit of happiness" thing. I hope you're not surprised to learn that experts have determined that happiness can't be found chasing shiny objects like money, power, pleasure, and fame.

Instead, real happiness comes from four simple but profound pillars: faith, family, friends and work that serves others. It comes from finding real meaning in life, knowing why you are here and what you would die for.

There are so many of you who already understand this, but let me conclude tonight with just two brief examples.

A young man was working his evening shift at a soda shop when a customer's credit card was declined. Feeling an almost unexpected desire to help, he decided to pay for the large drink order with his own money — his entire wages for that shift — ensuring that he basically worked for free that night.

Well, his dad was understandably proud and shared his son's kind act with a few others. Soon, Good Samaritans all over the state began donating to this young man — almost $1,000 in all — because that's what we do in Utah.

Now, it would be a great story if it ended there, but it didn't. You see, this young man took that $1,000 and used it to buy gifts on an angel tree for kids in need. That's why I have faith in our state's future: because young people like Phin Biesinger, who is here tonight, will make it so.

Another young man in our state, just 25 years of age, recently achieved his lifelong dream of following in his father's footsteps and becoming a law enforcement officer. And while serving and protecting the people of Provo would be more than enough giving back for most people, he decided he could give even more.

Last Saturday, he was elected as the youngest member of the Utah House of Representatives. Welcome Rep. Clancy. Your dad would be proud.

To the older people in this room, remember that Utah is the youngest state in the nation and I think we'd benefit from, in a sense, acting our age.

For we must never forget the qualities of youth: "Not a time of life... but a state of mind, a temper of the will, a quality of imagination, a predominance of courage over timidity." We would all be better off being curious like the young people around us. Like my grandma who, at age 90, decided she wanted to learn how to paint. She painted this for me as a reminder of home. Today is her 94th birthday and I want to be young like her.

Legislative friends, remember that our time in these positions is often brief. Rather than spreading fear, let's build more and tear down less. Let's renew again our determination to focus on doing the big things, the hard things that matter. Let's "make no little plans. [For] they have no magic to stir men's blood and probably will not themselves be realized."

And, finally, to the young people who have joined us: I have an important and heartfelt request to make of you.

I, and your loved ones and the elected officials seated around you, are committed to doing our part to defend and protect your God-given right to freely pursue happiness.

But tonight, I am asking you — begging you — to embrace that pursuit. Unlike any generation before you.

While we can protect your right to pursue happiness, we can't do the pursuing for you, even if we wanted to. Your challenges are different from the ones we faced, but I believe that each of you is uniquely prepared to face these challenges.

So stand up a little straighter and feel free to smile a little bigger. We can do this.

In such a pursuit, I am confident that you will find happiness that is not some light or fleeting thing. You will find deep and lasting happiness that flows not just from freedom itself, but in rising to make good on your responsibilities. From meeting your rendezvous with destiny head on, as the baton of leadership in this state inevitably passes to you.

I truly believe that there has never been a better time in the history of the world to be alive than right now. And there has never been a better place to live than right here, in Utah.

Your future is brighter than ever because we have the power within us to make it so. I trust the people sitting next to you — and more importantly — I trust you.

I trust that you will turn from the fears that would paralyze and that you will keep the faith. I trust that you will show the world what it looks like to aggressively pursue real happiness in our modern world. I trust the State of our State — which has never been stronger than it is today — will one day reach even greater heights in your capable hands.

You've got this.

May God bless the great state of Utah and the young people that make it great. Thank you.

CITATION HONORING UTAH'S FALLEN FIRST RESPONDERS

Representative Wilcox introduced Utah's Fallen First Responders and the Chief Clerk read the following citation to honor them.

The State of Utah and its citizens benefit every day from the work of our Police and Fire Departments, Search and Rescue and EMS teams and many other men and women who commit to risk themselves on our behalf as First Responders. Utah's First Responders continually train to be the first line of defense in catastrophic situations. They put their lives at risk and go into harm's way to protect others' lives, while exhibiting bravery, reliability, and moral fiber in fulfilling their duties.

As Dean Cain stated, "Real heroes don't wear capes. Real superheroes wear uniforms and badges and stethoscopes! Real superheroes are members of our military, law enforcement, and first responders. Pretend superheroes wear capes!"

These men and women are Utah's heroes.

We are committed to remembering that the preservation of our liberty and way of life comes at a price, that price is often paid by young men and women who selflessly put themselves in harm's way to protect the lives of the people and to uphold peace and justice in our communities. We regard, with great respect, the honorable service of those in uniform who have fallen, regardless of time, place or circumstance of death.

Now, be it known that the Legislature of the State of Utah pays tribute to those who are left behind mothers, fathers, spouses, children, siblings, grandparents, friends, and fellow First Responders and expresses its heartfelt sympathies to the families of our fallen first responders. May the examples of the dedicated service of these brave men and women serve as examples to all of the commitment to protecting the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of Utah.

Our honor and respect to:

Captain Brian Holbrook
Logan City Fire Department

Sergeant Craig Ward
Utah Highway Patrol

Presented February 10, 2023

1. Page 3, Lines 81 through 83:

81 (1) When a defendant charged with a misdemeanor [is] may be incompetent to

82 proceed, ~~{-a-}~~ any petition [~~may~~] shall be filed in [~~the~~ district court of the county where the charge is 83 ~~pending or where the defendant is confined~~] accordance with Section 77-15-3.

2. Page 4, Lines 89 through 99:

89 (3) Unless the prosecutor or another individual indicates that civil commitment

90 proceedings will be initiated under Subsection 77-15-6(5)(c), a court shall release a defendant

91 who is incompetent to proceed if:

92 (a) the most severe charge against the defendant is [~~no more severe than~~] a class B

93 misdemeanor;

94 (b) more than 60 days have passed after the day on which the court adjudicated the

95 defendant incompetent to proceed; ~~{-}~~ and ~~{-}~~

96 ~~{-(c) restoration treatment has been provided to the defendant; and}~~

97 ~~{-}~~ (c) ~~{-}~~ ~~{-(d)}~~ the defendant [~~has not been~~] is not restored to competency.

(4) The department shall provide restoration treatment to the defendant within the timeframe described in Subsection (3)(b).

98 ~~{-(4)}~~ (5) [A] The court may, but is not required to, dismiss the charges against a defendant

99 who was released under Subsection (3).

3. Page 5, Lines 148 through 149:

148 (d) The stipulation by parties to a bona fide doubt as to the defendant's competency to 149 stand trial alone may not take the place of a competency evaluation ordered under this Subsection (3).

4. Page 6, Lines 154 through 158:

154 (b) The petitioner or other party, as directed by the court or requested by the

155 department, shall provide to the forensic evaluator nonmedical information and materials

156 relevant to a determination of the defendant's competency, including the charging document,

157 arrest or incident reports pertaining to the charged offense, and known criminal history

158 information {[-]} , and known prior mental health evaluations and treatments {[-]} .

5. Page 7, Lines 200 through 201:

200 (b) in making the determinations described in Subsection (6)(a), the forensic evaluator

201 {~~may~~} shall consider , as applicable :

6. Page 9, Lines 249 through 251:

249 (b) describe the procedures, techniques, and tests used in the examination and the

250 purpose or purposes for each, the time spent by the forensic evaluator with the defendant for

251 purposes of the examination, and the compensation to be paid {~~by~~} to the evaluator for the report;

7. Page 13, Lines 373 through 374:

373 (b) At the hearing, the burden of proving that the defendant is {[-]} competent {[-]} {~~incompetent~~}

374 to stand trial is on the proponent of {[-]} competency {[-]} {~~incompetency~~} .

Representative Dailey–Provost proposed Amendment 2:

1. Page 12, Line 357 through Page 13, Line 377:

357 (2) (a) Each local governing board and the program manager
358 for the Utah Fits All Scholarship Program, as defined in Section
359 53F-6-401, shall establish a policy regarding course content that 360 generally promotes transparency to parents and students.

361 (b) In making the policy described in Subsection (2)(a), the 362 local governing board and the program manager :

363 (i) shall determine how educators will give notice to parents and 364 students of the course

365 content throughout the school year, including whether the local 366 governing board or program manager requires

367 educators to:

368 (A) prepare a syllabus, including the circumstances under 369 which a syllabus requirement

370 would apply;

371 (B) provide to students and students' parents any updates
372 regarding changes to course

373 content throughout the school year, including the method of 374 providing any required course

375 content updates;

376 (C) comply with any notice requirements or approval process
377 before using learning

378 materials that the local governing board or program
379 manager has not reviewed and approved;

380 (D) obtain approval for or provide any notice to the LEA,
381 program manger, students, or students' parents

382 of an activity, either within a given class or an activity available to a 383 broader group of the

384 student body; and

385 (E) provide students and parents of students within the school
386 or the Utah Fits All Scholarship Program access to relevant course

387 content from previous years before registering or otherwise
388 selecting classes;

375 (ii) shall determine the method of accessing the course content and other information

376 described in Subsection (2)(b)(i) that are not readily available to the parent on the school's

377 learning management system or the program manager's online portal described in Section 53F-6-405 ; and Representative Dailey-Provost's motion to amend failed on a voice vote.

HONORING UTAH’S FALLEN MILITARY MEMBERS

Whereas, the United States of America stands as a symbol of freedom throughout the world; and

Whereas, many Utahns have bravely carried freedom’s banner at home and into foreign lands and have paid the ultimate price with their lives in defending freedom for those in oppressed lands; and

Whereas, we pay tribute to those who are left behind – mothers, fathers, spouses, children, siblings, grandparents, friends; and

Whereas, we are committed to remembering that the preservation of our liberty comes at a price, and that price is often paid by young men and women who selflessly put themselves in harm’s way to protect the lives of innocent people in lands far from home; and

Whereas, we regard, with great respect, the honorable service of those in uniform who have fallen, regardless of time, place or circumstance of death.

Now, therefore, be it known that the Legislature of the State of Utah expresses its heartfelt sympathies to the families of our fallen military members. May the examples of the dedicated service of these brave men and women serve as examples to all of the commitment of Americans to defending liberty at home and abroad.

1. Page 27, Line 828 through Page 28, Line 846:

828 is not required to, submit an opinion question to the county's registered voters in accordance 829 with Section 59-12-2208 to impose a sales and use tax under this section.

830 ~~{ (b) Notwithstanding Section 59-12-2208 and subject to Subsection (12)(c), if a county~~

831 ~~legislative body described in Subsection (4), (5), or (6) seeks to make an allocation or change~~

832 ~~the distribution of sales and use tax revenue as described in Subsection (4), (5), or (6), the~~

833 ~~county legislative body may make or change the allocation by adopting a resolution specifying~~

834 ~~the new allocation or change in allocation. }~~

835 ~~{ (c) (i) If a county legislative body seeks to make or change the distribution as described~~

836 ~~in Subsection (12)(b), the allocation shall take effect on the first day of a calendar quarter after~~

837 ~~a 90-day period that begins on the date the commission receives written notice from the county~~

838 ~~that meets the requirements of Subsection (12)(c)(ii).~~

839 ~~(ii) The notice described in Subsection (12)(c)(i) shall state:~~

840 ~~(A) that the county will make or change the percentage of an allocation under~~

841 ~~Subsection (12)(b); and~~

842 ~~(B) the percentage of revenue that will be allocated to the cities and towns, the county~~

843 ~~legislative body, and, when applicable, the public transit provider. }~~

(b) If a county passes an ordinance to impose a sales and use tax as described in this section, the sales and use tax shall take effect on the first day of the calendar quarter after a 90-day period that begins on the date the commission receives written notice from the county of the passage of the ordinance.

844 {-(d)-} (c) A county that imposed the local option sales and use tax described in this section

845 before January 1, 2023, may maintain that county's distribution allocation in place as of

846 January 1, 2023.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Speaker Wilson announced that the enacting clause on all legislation in possession of the House that has not passed the House before adjournment sine die will be automatically stricken.

On motion of Representative Schultz, the House authorized the Speaker to appoint a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House of Representatives has finished its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die. Speaker Wilson appointed Representatives Dunnigan, Gwynn, and Hayes.

On motion of Representative Romero, the House authorized the Speaker to appoint a committee to notify the Senate and inform that Honorable Body that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die. Speaker Wilson appointed Representatives S. Eliason, J. Elison, and Dailey–Provost.

Speaker Wilson directed Megan Selin Allen to read, revise, and make minor corrections to the daily House Journals and be responsible for certifying the indexed and bound copy as the accurate record of the proceedings of the 2023 General Session of the Sixty–Fifth Legislature.

Senators Anderegg, Wilson, and Kwan formally notified the House of Representatives that the Senate had completed its business and was prepared to adjourn sine die.

Representative Dunnigan informed the House of Representatives that his committee, with a like committee from the Senate, has notified the Governor that the Legislature has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die.

Representative S. Eliason informed the House of Representatives that his committee has waited upon the Senate and informed them that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Representative Schultz, the House voted to resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole to hear from Governor Spencer J. Cox.

On motion of Representative Romero, the House voted to dissolve the Committee of the Whole.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Schultz, and at 9:50 p.m., the 2023 General Session of the Sixty-Fifth Legislature adjourned sine die.

Communication filed.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, since the adjournment of the 2023 General Session of the Sixty-fifth Legislature of the State of Utah, certain matters have arisen which require immediate legislative attention; and

WHEREAS, Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Utah provides that the Governor may, by proclamation, convene the Legislature into Special Session:

WHEREAS, this applies for all “whereas” statements;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Spencer J. Cox, governor of the State of Utah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the State of Utah, do by this Proclamation call the Sixty-fifth Legislature of the State of Utah in a First Special Session at the Utah State Capitol, in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 17th day of May 2023, at 4:00 p.m., for the following purposes:

1. to consider extending the state of emergency declared in Executive Order 2023-05;

2. to reallocate the fiscal year 2023 and the fiscal year 2024 budgets to address costs related to snow removal, flooding, flood response and mitigation, and other costs related to the conditions that gave rise to the state of emergency declared in Executive Order 2023-05; and

3. to consider amendments to House Bill 225, Firearm Possession Amendments, from the 2023 General Session.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of Utah. Done at the Utah State Capitol in Salt Lake City, Utah, this 5th day of May 2023.

Spencer J. Cox
Governor
Deidre M. Henderson
Lieutenant Governor

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, on June 6, 2023, United States Rep. Chris Stewart submitted an irrevocable letter of resignation to the governor stating that Rep. Stewart's final day representing the Second Congressional District of Utah is Sep. 15, 2023;

WHEREAS, Article I, Section 2 of the United States Constitution states that "[w]hen vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies;":

WHEREAS, Utah Code 20A-1-5-2.5 states that the governor may set a date for a primary special congressional election and a date for a general special congressional election that are different than the days specified in Utah Code 20A-1-5-2.5 (1)(a) if a governor calls a special session for the Legislature to appropriate money to hold the special elections;

WHEREAS, by proclamation of the governor, the primary special congressional election has been set for Tuesday, Sep. 5, 2023, and the general special congressional election has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 21, 2023;

WHEREAS, Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Utah provides that the Governor may, by proclamation, convene the Legislature into Special Session;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Spencer J. Cox, governor of the State of Utah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Utah Constitution and the laws of the

State of Utah, do by this Proclamation call the Sixty–fifth Legislature of the State of Utah in a Second Special Session at the Utah State Capitol, in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 14th day of June 2023, at 4:00 p.m., for the following purposes:

1. to appropriate money to conduct the elections to be held on Tuesday, Sep. 5, 2023, and Tuesday, Nov. 21, 2023;

2. to change the date of the 2023 municipal primary election from August 15, 2023, to Sep. 5, 2023;

3. to change the date of the 2023 municipal general election from Nov. 7, 2023, to Nov. 21, 2023;

4. to align canvassing deadlines for the Sep. 5, 2023, municipal primary election and the Nov. 21, 2023, municipal general election with the canvassing deadlines for the primary special congressional election and the general special congressional election;

5. to direct counties to conduct the 2023 municipal elections and the counties within the Second Congressional District of Utah to also conduct the special congressional elections;

6. to allow elections officers to accept and count ballots for the municipal primary elections and the primary special congressional election that are postmarked on or before Sep. 5, 2023;

7. to establish the deadline by which a voter may change the voter’s political party affiliation for the Sep. 5, 2023, primary special congressional election; and

8. the Senate consenting to appointments made by the Governor.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of Utah. Done this 7th day of June 2023.

Spencer J. Cox

Governor

Deidre M. Henderson

Lieutenant Governor
