Phalin L. Flowers

Mary B. Andrus

J. Stuart Adams
PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

The 2023 General Session was historic on many levels and resulted in the best session the Utah Legislature has ever had. We balanced a nearly $29 billion budget, the largest budget in Utah's history, and made generational investments in education, social services, water, housing, transportation, infrastructure and cut taxes for the third consecutive year.

Twenty–twenty–three was the year of the tax cut again, again, again. Over the past two years, we reduced taxes by nearly $300 million. To continue our commitment to reduce taxes and cultivate a family and business–friendly environment, the Legislature provided $850 million in tax relief to Utahns during the 2023 General Session. This tax relief included reducing the income tax rate from 4.85% to 4.65%, expanding social security tax credit eligibility, increasing the earned income tax credit from 15% to 20%, and providing a double dependent exemption for children 0–3 years old, just to name a few.

In addition to cutting taxes, Utah set new records with education funding. This year, we appropriated $15 billion to public education and education programs, more than half of the state budget, and increased the WPU by 13% in ongoing funds and 18.5% in one–time funds. The funding included teacher salary increases, all–day kindergarten, educator preparation, school safety, and teen centers. In Utah, we understand that our children are our future. We will continue to prioritize education, and I look forward to seeing the results of the legislation we passed during the most recent session.

Drought is one of the biggest challenges Utah's faced over the last several years. As the second driest state in the nation, we've turned our attention to finding innovative solutions to conserve and develop water. In a remarkable turn of events, this winter we had a record snow water equivalency of 30 inches, almost double the amount our state usually receives. Though this solved our immediate water needs, as lawmakers, we understand that we will have years with very little water, and it's essential to plan accordingly. It's our duty to not only think about the next year or even the next 10 years, but the next 100 years.

Last year, we allocated almost $500 million to our state's water infrastructure. That was just the start. This year, we placed a renewed focus on water conservation and development, further mitigating Utah's ongoing water issues and planning for future growth. The Legislature passed several bills and allocated nearly $500 million to address the diverse statewide water needs. The legislation included funding for agriculture water optimization, the turf buyback program, and secondary water metering.

In addition to water conservation, it's imperative that we continue to expand and improve our transportation systems. As the fastest-growing state in the nation, we need to plan with the future in mind. This session, we allocated $2.1 billion toward infrastructure and transportation improvements.

One of the most dramatic events coming out of COVID-19 was the effect on the housing market. Home costs soared, both for purchase and for rent. Rapid growth rates in the state contributed to a shortage of affordable housing. We spent long hours thoroughly reviewing and figuring out how to allocate funds to assist Utahns in finding affordable housing options.

As a result, we appropriated $200 million for various housing affordability programs, including the First-time Homebuyers Assistance Program, a bill I sponsored. The program will help Utahns just starting out receive up to $20,000 to buy down interest rates or apply funds to down payments or closing costs. I am optimistic that this program, as well as others we passed this session, will help more Utahns get out of apartments and into homes.

Utah has a history of coming together to tackle challenging issues facing our state and identifying the best policies. Our approach continues to pay dividends. Utah was recently ranked the No. 1 best state overall by U.S. News and World Report, and the state with the best economic outlook for the 16th year in a row by Rich States, Poor States: ALEC-Laffer State Economic Competitiveness Index. This doesn't just happen by chance. Meticulous planning combined with prudent, conservative economic tax policies has placed our state in an advantageous position. I am grateful for the work the Legislature was able to accomplish this past year and look forward to Utah's continued success.

MORNING SESSION
January 17, 2023

Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution of the State of Utah, the Senators of the Sixty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Utah convened in General Session in the Senate Chamber on Tuesday, January 17, 2023, at ten o'clock a.m.

The Senate was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by Taylor Randall, President of the University of Utah.

PRAYER BY ELDER MATTHEW S. HOLLAND,
GENERAL AUTHORITY SEVENTY,
CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Our Dear Heavenly Father,

We gather this day with the opening of this Legislature recognizing that we have been blessed with so many wonderful things. We thank thee for the blessings of the moisture that the state is receiving which it needs so much and pray for more consistent with that needed for safety, health, life, and prosperity in this state. We thank thee for our freedoms in this wonderful republic that we enjoy. We are grateful for the good men and women who are serving in this Legislature. We pray for thy special blessing to be upon them in their personal lives and in their public lives that they will be sustained and strengthened and protected as they carry out the public's critical business this Legislative Session. We do pray for continued and increased prosperity in this state. We pray that wisdom will prevail in these councils this Legislative Session for the good of the state and all citizens therein. We pray that those who conduct their business here will be blessed with honesty and candor and friendship and civility and all the virtues that will allow the best things to happen for the good of the State of Utah. We, again, express our thanks for these blessings and offer these requests to thee this day. In the name of Jesus Christ, amen.

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Senate expressed appreciation to President Taylor Randall for taking time to participate in the opening of the Utah State Senate.

WELCOMING REMARKS BY PRESIDENT ADAMS

It is my honor and privilege to stand before each of you and every citizen of the great state of Utah to open the 2023 General Session of the 65th State Legislature.

We welcome our new senators:

- Senator Stephanie Pitcher
- Senator Nate Blouin
- Senator Jennifer Plumb
- Senator Karen Kwan

Welcome to the service of the great people of Utah!

I want to thank someone who won't be here for this session. Sen. Karen Mayne. She has been a true champion for her district and the state of Utah. I am lucky to call her a dear friend, and I will miss her wisdom and her wit. She is a great stateswoman.

I have talked many times about how great Utah is. Our economy, upward mobility, how happy we are, and our great quality of life. We are blessed to live in an amazing state where the policies we have implemented have fortified our economy, supported upward mobility, and preserved our quality of life.

A significant contributing factor to why we enjoy such a great state is the moral character of the people who live here – hardworking, honest individuals with integrity and a great work ethic.

Those who have participated in today's ceremony exemplify these qualities. I want to thank each of them. President Randall, Elder Holland, the American Heritage School. Please join me in recognizing them.

I also can't start the session without praising our Senate staff. We have the best team, led by our incredible chief of staff, Mark Thomas. They are always available to help, go the extra mile and consistently exceed my expectations. Thank you to Mark, Aundrea, Brian, Jen, Nikaela, Kennedie, Lori, Lizzy, Paige, Kendly, May, Bennett, and Chad.

The same goes for all our legislative offices—The Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel, The Office of Legislative Fiscal Analysts, The Office of Legislative Auditor and Legislative Services led by our directors John Cannon, Jonathan Ball and Kade Minchey and our new general counsel Victoria Ashby.

Thank you to the Capitol Preservation staff for coordinating the many events and the Utah Highway Patrol for diligently working to keep everyone who works, serves and visits the Capitol safe.

All of you help make the session possible and successful.

On a personal note, we all have people in our lives who personally support us. I want to recognize my wife, Susan, who has always been my better half. Thank you for your understanding, support, strength and love. Join me in recognizing her and all of our loved ones that support and allow us to serve.

Spouses and loved ones stand. We could not do what we do without you.

I also want to recognize Reed Randall, Taylor's Dad. Taylor's dad taught me managerial accounting. I did not like accounting until he showed us how it could be used to make decisions. Professor Randall, you changed my life. Thank you. And thank you for raising a wonderful, talented son.

We all have much to be grateful for as we assemble to serve.

As in past years, at your desk is the Senate coin for this session. This year's coin is struck with the image of James Madison. As many of you know, James Madison served in a variety of positions; as a congressman from Virginia, as Secretary of State and as the fourth President of the United States. But his most lasting legacy may be that as the framer and chief architect of our American Constitution.

However, you may not know that James Madison began his service as a delegate to the Fifth Virginia Convention. He, like us, was a citizen legislator.

The Fifth Virginia Convention was a pivotal event. This meeting was held in Williamsburg in May 1776. Not only was this assembly revolutionary, but this convention had foresight.

Leaders included Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry and James Madison. They declared Virginia an independent state and produced its first Constitution! On June 29, the convention approved the first Constitution of Virginia, a functioning republican Constitution before July 4, 1776.

Demonstrated by his many contributions to independence, the creation of our great country and the Constitution, James Madison was truly a man of foresight! Today, we honor and aspire to serve with that same vision.

What we do in this session will not only impact us today but will impact all of our tomorrows. More importantly, it will impact the tomorrows of our children, our grandchildren and even our great-grandchildren. Let us commit now to be a body of foresight!

There are many challenges that face us today that we, as a state, have a responsibility to address. But we know because we have the track record to prove it, that these challenges are best solved at the state level.

The Supreme Court has very clearly and in no uncertain terms established that many of the powers of government rightly belong to the states. We have known this for some time. The work we do in this chamber will demonstrate the wisdom of our forefathers in limiting the powers of the federal government and reserving and retaining for states the ability to govern and solve the challenges we face.

In our Constitution's Bill of Rights—written and advocated for by James Madison—the tenth amendment reads:

“The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.”

Let us honor this foresight by taking this opportunity to solve challenges where they can best be addressed here in the great state of Utah.

Allow me to elaborate on some of these opportunities and how we will address them.

First, let's give thanks for many answered prayers and for the amount of moisture we have received so far this winter. However, Utah has always ranked among the driest states in the nation. Our climate is dry and has always been—our pioneer ancestors knew this, and it was among the first challenges they addressed.

My great and great, great grandfathers settled in Layton at the base of Adams Canyon. The first thing they did was construct the Holmes Creek Reservoir. I doubt many of you know where that is. However, if I described it as just east of the Valley View Golf Course in Layton, maybe Senator Vickers, McCay and Sandall would know.

My grandfathers used wood tools to construct the reservoir. When they filled it with water, the pressure destroyed the work they had just finished. I cannot imagine the heartbreak they felt as they watched their work literally wash away. They did not have track excavators, front-end loaders or D9 cats. They didn't even have metal shovels. But they went back to work and solved their water problem.

Today we continue to face water problems. However, we now have track excavators, front end loaders and D9 cats. We have resources, smart engineers, and the same backbone and drive to fix the problem.

Now it is our turn to plan for the next 100 years. Helping not only our state but the West.

Last year, we allocated almost $500 million to our state's water infrastructure. This is only a drop in the bucket! We need to create, adopt, and implement a solution for the ages.

We can, and we will fix our water problems. We may need to work with our neighbors as far north as Canada and as far south as Arizona.

We need new innovative ways to conserve water. Solutions like subsurface drip systems, cloud seeding and desalination. These same solutions have worked in other countries, and they can and will work here.

This session, we will have the foresight to find lasting solutions to Utah's and the West's water crisis.

2023 will be the year of the tax cut – again, again, again. Our quality of life is supported by Utah's robust economy.

It is not difficult to remember during the pandemic when Hawaii and New York were thinking of laying off teachers and raising taxes. In Utah, because of our strong economy, we were giving educators bonuses and record funding while simultaneously cutting taxes.

The foresight of years past has enabled our economy to continue to be the envy of the nation. By multiple measures—number one economy, fastest growing GDP, top of the list for economic outlook—Utah is doing well!

But current federal policies have failed. Shutting down oil pipelines and Federal overspending have created inflation. Interest rates have risen dramatically to help curb inflation.

We can't control Washington, but Utah can lead the way by reducing taxes and regulatory roadblocks and we will.

In addition to cutting taxes, Utah has increased education funding at record levels. Students do not learn alone; they need teachers. As a state, it is our obligation to provide the best teachers possible. A recent National Education Association (NEA) report detailed that Utah teacher salaries grew by more than 5% from 2012–2022, the second-highest growth in the nation.

Even with all the funding for education, for several reasons, teachers' salaries have not kept up. This year for the second time in the history of the state we need to directly fund teacher salaries directly to every teacher in addition to significantly increasing the WPU.

But that is not good enough. Parents want choice. They want more control over their children's education. In a recent Dan Jones poll, almost 60% said parents should be allowed to use tax dollars designated for their child's education to send their child to an alternate public or private school. Only 32% opposed it. We must provide the option for parents to use their tax dollars to select the best education for their child, whether it is charter, public, private, or home school.

To our state's educators, I want to express my deep appreciation for the significant contribution you make individually to Utah students. My daughter is a third-grade teacher. I know how much work and dedication teachers put in each and every day. Your work in the classroom is remarkable. Among the many attributes of a great teacher is their ability to have the foresight to see a student not as they are today but as what they can and will become in the future. Your efforts and foresight with your students will be the most critical component of our state's future.

Thank you, educators!

As our students grow and enter the Utah job market, they will be participating in what is, for the 15th year in a row, the state with the best economic outlook. This didn't just happen. This happens because we have planned and prepared our state to be in and sustain its strong economic position. This is a direct result of prudent, conservative, forward-looking economic tax policy.

However, with out-of-control spending by the federal government, we are seeing inflation continue to rise to heights we have not seen in over 40 years, and interest rates climb to over 6%. Utah is and has been recognized as a safe harbor in the global economic storm. We are the state best poised to overcome a downturn. We have $1.5 billion dollars of ongoing tax revenue being spent on one-time projects, resulting in a huge working rainy day fund that no other state has.

So what advantages do we have when we have the strongest economy in the nation? We can cut taxes for the third year in a row and fund education at record levels for the third year in a row, even during a pandemic or with a slowing economy. That is what a strong economy allows us to do – pretty amazing.

Good economies are not made in a session, but they can be destroyed in one. We will not let that happen!

We will cut taxes and return money to the hard-working Utahns who earned it.

We will continue to promote long-term investments that help families and individuals succeed.

We will create an environment where businesses can succeed and reap the rewards of their investments.

We will provide the necessary infrastructure for the wheels of commerce to turn unfettered.

This is the foresight that has and will continue to produce a strong and stable Utah economy.

Energy and infrastructure are the two rails that keep our economy moving forward. We must continue to invest with the future in mind.

It is time we fix FrontRunner. We need to eliminate at-grade crossings so it can go 150 miles an hour instead of 79. We need to double-track the FrontRunner so we can run express trains. It needs electrification. Utah's public transportation needs to be competitive with driving an automobile.

We do not have room in Farmington or at the Point of the Mountain for another freeway. A functional, efficient FrontRunner is the answer.

Energy drives our economy. We can and will make the transition to renewables, but until we do, we need to keep producing oil in the basin and refining oil in North Salt Lake to drive gas prices down. We cannot be beholden to foreign nations for such resources. We have them, we can develop them, and we will make smart, forward-looking decisions that will ensure the viability of energy resources in all forms for the next 100 years and beyond.

One of the most dramatic events coming out of COVID-19 was the effect on the housing market. Home costs soared, both for purchase and for rent. Inventories are at all-time lows, and prices at all-time highs.

I am personally concerned we are losing our middle class. More and more people are renting instead of buying. We must find a way to get more people out of apartments and into their first home. It is time to bring back state assistance financing for first-time home buyers. We need to help individuals just starting out build equity for their future, have the opportunity for greater upward mobility, and experience the pride of home ownership.

At the onset, I said we faced many challenges, and I have enumerated a few. There are many more, which we will tackle in the next 45 days.

I need to change my own words and say that we don't have challenges but that we have opportunities!

Ours is the responsibility—through our joint commitment to foresight, deliberation, and hard work—to transform these challenges into opportunities.

We have the opportunity to improve and empower all Utahns to even greater heights.

We have the opportunity to lay the foundations for success for generations to come.

I serve—and I believe many of you share this motivation—not for self but to make Utah even better for my children and grandchildren. To make Utah a place that they can choose to call home.

The title “Founder of the Constitution” was not given to James Madison by history or those who came later, but by his peers, those with whom he served. In his later years, when this title was referenced in his company, Madison protested that the Constitution was not “the off-spring of a single brain” but “the work of many heads and many hands.”

That is what we need, “the work of many heads and many hands.”

Our opportunities—are great! But they are not greater than those assembled here.

Let us, with “the work of many heads and many hands,” engage in debate with foresight, make decisions that will positively impact generations, and serve the deserving people of Utah—those here now and the generations which will follow—to the best of our collective abilities.

It is my prayer that God's most tender care be upon the United States of America, and may his choicest blessings be upon all of the people of our great state of Utah. Thank you!

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Senate recessed at 11:35 a.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Senate reassembled at 2:20 p.m., with President Adams presiding.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Senator Vickers, the Legislature resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Chief Justice Matthew Durrant’s State of the Judiciary address.

Supreme Court Justices in attendance: Chief Justice Durrant, Justice Pearce, Justice Petersen, Justice Hagen, and Justice Pohlman.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY REMARKS BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW DURRANT

It is a privilege to report to you this afternoon on the state of our judiciary. The eagle-eyed among you will notice that our Court looks a little bit different. That’s because over the course of the past year, two of our members have left the Court to rejoin private practice, Justice Thomas Lee and Justice Deno Himonas. They were excellent jurists and served the Court and the state with great distinction.

They have been replaced by two excellent jurists in their own right, Justice Diana Hagen and Justice Jill Pohlman. And thank you for your unanimous confirmation of these remarkable individuals.

These two, with the addition of Justice Petersen, make up our state’s first female majority Supreme Court, which, for me, is quite a wonderful development and something the entire state can be proud of.

So those three justices make up the historic wing of our court. Justice Pearce and I constitute the old guy wing. And Justice Pearce, I'm sure, is not pleased to be lumped in with me as an old guy, but it does seem like an almost another lifetime ago that he was sworn in as a justice on our court.

I remember his ceremony well. I spoke, and he spoke. I was boring; he was interesting and hilarious, as is his custom. He's a masterful speaker.

And that evening the Pearce's hosted a reception at their home. I was minding my own business in a corner when I saw a fellow making a beeline for me. He held his hand out and introduced himself; he said he was from California. Then he turned serious. He said, "Mr. Chief Justice, I have to say, I was quite disturbed by one part of your talk."

I said, "Really? I didn't think it was especially controversial."

He said, "Well, you claim that the Utah Supreme Court is as strong as any in the country. Do you really believe that?"

"As a matter of fact, I do," I said.

Then he said, "You think you're better than the California Supreme Court?" I said, "I've never really seen it as a competition, and they are an excellent Supreme Court, but, yeah, I think we compare pretty favorably, even with the California Supreme Court. And with the addition of Justice Pearce now, I feel as confident as ever in making that statement."

And he said, "Well, you know, the California Supreme Court has Justice Goodwin Liu." Goodwin Liu is a noted legal scholar. Then, he said, "I know John Pearce and he's a fine person, but John Pearce is no Goodwin Liu."

Well, I found this rather amusing and was eager to share it with John Pearce, who also found it quite amusing. But I think he probably found it a little less so when, for several months, I seldom missed an opportunity to compare him to Goodwin Liu. He'd make a point. I'd say, "Good point, John, but I can't help think Goodwin Liu would have made it so much better."

So, yes, I have an annoying personality, but I stand by my statement even more so than ever today. Here's my case. Here's my evidence.

Justice Pearce, however he may compare with Goodwin Liu, is off-the-charts brilliant. He writes not only in a persuasive and clear way, but he is the rarest of appellate judges. He writes opinions that are actually engaging and interesting. If you've only read my opinions, you probably think all judicial opinions are supposed to be boring. He's served with great distinction on our Court of Appeals before joining our Court and is a superb jurist.

Justice Paige Peterson cut her teeth prosecuting mobsters in the Southern District of New York, our most famous U.S. Attorney's Office. And then because, I suppose that wasn't scary enough, she went on to prosecute war criminals in The Hague. So, she is as delightful and kind human being as you'll ever meet, but she's also as tough as nails, a beautiful writer and a superb jurist.

Justice Diana Hagen was a celebrated prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office here in Utah. She was responsible for some of Utah's most famous cases ever. Then she went to the Court of Appeals where she served with great distinction. She's a person of many talents. One that really stands out is that she is a remarkable oral advocate. You may wonder why that matters in an appellate judge. Well, we debate our cases. And I often sit in awe at her oral advocacy skills.

Justice Jill Pohlman is a self-confessed law nerd, and I think that's part of what makes her such a meticulous scholar. She has the superpower of being able to go right to the heart of even the most complicated issues and to bring order to the chaos of even the most complicated cases. She has a remarkable mind. So, those are my colleagues.

Now, as long as I'm bragging about the judges, let me just say our Court of Appeals is great. And I think our district and juvenile court judges in the state system are superb as well. I think they compare with any judges in the country. And I know that sounds like hometown cheerleading, but, in part, should be credited to this body.

In 1985, you passed and citizens approved a revision to the judicial article which included a couple of important things. One gave us a judicial council form of government which helps us, as a court system, to be very innovative and forward looking. And it gave us a nonpartisan selection process that is based exclusively on merit. That selection process has come to be as rigorous as any in the country.

As part of the process, applicants identify all the lawyers they've had cases with, all the lawyers they've had cases against, and the judges before whom they have appeared. Those individuals are sent surveys where they are asked to rate the judicial candidate. They do so on a confidential basis, so they can be just as brutal as they want, if they are so inclined. Bottom line is that unless a lawyer has developed a reputation for integrity, fair-mindedness, hard work, and legal acumen, he or she is not going to become a Utah State Court Judge.

As for the judicial council form of government, one of the benefits of that is our judiciary has become a national model--that is how the director of the National Center for State Courts has described us. Utah is the national and international model.

Okay. Now, I'd like to talk about the relationship between our two branches of government. We all know that we're seeing extraordinary levels of polarization in our society. And we've seen an increase in distrust of our institutions, including yours and mine.

Please just know this: I personally, and our judges, have an enormous respect for you, our state's elected policymakers, for you and for your constitutional role.

I also have a great deal of respect for your current leaders, President Adams and Speaker Wilson. They are dedicated to serving citizens and promoting good government. This is not a comment on politics. It is a comment on leadership. They serve with dignity, and I think their leadership is reflected in this body as a whole.

Now, there's a natural tension in our relationship because we are called upon to review your work. Our guiding principle is always your intent. You pass policy that is most often reflected in statute. We review those statutes to ascertain your intent. Usually, they are crystal clear. You have fine lawyers. You review them yourselves. But on occasion an ambiguity slips in. That's not a criticism. It could be said of our opinions as well. We often get the chance to go back and clarify something that we did not make clear initially.

When there is an ambiguity, it is not an open door for us to jump in and substitute our own policy preference for yours. You are elected by the people to be the policymakers for this state, not us. And so, in interpreting that ambiguity, our goal is to find your most likely intent.

Now, on occasion, not that often, but on occasion, statutes are challenged as unconstitutional. In other words, they are challenged on the ground that in passing them you have exceeded the limits of your authority as set by the people through the constitution.

Here again, a constitutional challenge is not an excuse for us to substitute our own personal preference over yours; it is merely to make our best judgment as to the statute's constitutionality.

Now, we know you are doing your best to pass constitutional statutes. You, like us, have taken an oath to support, obey, and defend the constitution. But on occasion, we will disagree. That's our role, and we cannot shirk it. It doesn't mean that we think the policy reflected in the statute is a bad one; we might completely agree with it, a statute we find unconstitutional, or we might disagree on a personal level with the statute that we find constitutional.

So, you will, no doubt, disagree with our opinions. You will, no doubt, on occasion, disagree with our interpretations of your intent or our assessment of a statute's constitutionality. That's to be expected. Just know that we are earnestly striving to obey our oath and to discharge the responsibilities that have devolved upon us.

And there's another aspect to our relationship, and it's a very cooperative one. You often pass statutes that assist us in better serving Utah's citizens, and we work together to bring about the policy objectives, your policy objectives, as reflected in statute.

A couple of quick examples. In 2019, you passed a statute and directed us to develop a process for creating automatic expungements of cases, in certain categories of cases, where individuals are eligible because they've gone crime free for a certain number of years. We've worked together to bring that about.

It's been a huge lift, a huge technological lift, but as of February of last year, we have started the process. There have now been over 200,000 automatic expungements. It's really a one-of-a-kind feature of our system.

You also passed a statute last year directing us to develop a process for deferred traffic prosecutions. Again, we worked cooperatively to develop a system for that, an algorithm. And so now we're in a position to make that program work. It allows people who have been cited with a traffic ticket to avoid going to court, pay the fine, and avoid going to court. And if they have no further traffic citations during a year, it's dropped from their record. So, thank you for helping us serve Utah's citizens and making justice more accessible to them.

Now, we also are going down the similar path with respect to regulatory reform. You have created a business regulatory sandbox where you're willing, on a targeted basis, to relax certain regulations in order to spur entrepreneurship and competition. We are engaged in a similar effort with respect to legal regulations.

We have, as I mentioned to you before, a severe access to justice gap in our country. I'm not talking about big court cases or even little court cases. I'm mostly talking about legal issues that pop up outside of court, kind of everyday-type things that we all encounter. An issue with a contract or with an insurance claim or with applying for disability, whatever it might be.

Now, we have great lawyers in this state, and they are especially given to giving of their time freely to those who can't afford legal help; we call that "pro bono legal services," and they are to be commended. But we have learned, as has been said, we can't pro bono our way out of this huge access to justice gap.

Now, we have these regulations in place in the law in order to protect consumers. So, we're running this pilot project to see if we can find more ways to get legal help to people while still protecting consumers. We're doing that in a couple of ways.

One, we're allowing nonlawyers to practice law. An example of that is a sexual assault crisis counseling center down in Utah County. They have trained their counselors to give legal advice in assisting their clients to obtain protective orders or stalking injunctions.

They are smart people. They can learn the law in this narrow area. They are not lawyers; that takes three hard years of law school. And as I said, we've got great lawyers in this state. But they can be trained to give adequate, legal advice in that area.

Another example, Holy Cross Ministries provides debt counseling service. They have applied and trained their people to provide certain limited legal services in that context. Again, they are not full-blown lawyers, but in that area, they can be adequately trained.

That's one way we're trying to get more legal help to more people. The other way is we're trying to give lawyers more freedom in how they structure their law businesses. Under our current regulations, you cannot partner with a nonlawyer. Well, through the sandbox, they can. They can partner with a financial services firm, if they think that works for them in achieving efficiencies and better serving clients. They can partner with a technology firm. We'd love to see more technological innovation in the legal space. Think TurboTax writ large.

Now, we're also working hard to measure any harm to consumers. We require regular reporting. We have a robust complaint process that sandbox participants are required to make very clear to those people they serve, and we have an audit program as well.

Now, there are those who are critical of this, and I respect their views. These are big changes and they are unsettling. We are listening to that criticism. We've incorporated some of it. I anticipate we will incorporate more of it. It's something I'm very excited about.

We've approved 47 entities now. They've provided roughly 35,000 legal services to Utahns, with 24,000 discrete consumers.

Okay. I'm afraid we've gotten to the part of the speech that is uncomfortable, at least for me, and that's where I ask you for money. Here are our judicial council priorities.

We hope you will fund a salary increase for judges. It's been about six years since we've had a significant increase, increase over COLA. Last year, we specifically decided, as a judicial council, not to seek an increase because we felt it was so important that our judicial assistants receive pay raises. You graciously gave us that money and it's been very helpful to our judiciary.

So, this year we've made it our first priority. And we're facing an interesting phenomenon in the Salt Lake legal market. I'm sure many of you are familiar with this. We've seen more and more large, international law firms or national law firms create satellite offices in Salt Lake.

There are a number of reasons for that. Part of it is your fault because we have a great economy, a well-managed state. Also, we've got a beautiful state. And we've got great lawyers and two superb law schools.

And with the now high level of comfort that people feel in communicating remotely in the wake of the pandemic, many people, many businesses, including law firms, have realized, "Hey, we can serve our big coastal clients right here in this beautiful place." And we've got a ready, willing, and able workforce, and we can attract others because it is such a great place to live. So, it's caught on like wildfire and salaries have gone through the roof.

Now, that's great for attorneys, not so great for the judiciary, because we are competing for these top lawyers. Now will we ever be able to pay as much as these private firms pay? Not even close. It's just not doable. But people are willing to sacrifice to be judges, make a financial sacrifice to be judges. It's a great job. There's a high level of psychic income. You have a sense of service. You have a sense of contribution, a sense of being involved in a noble effort, a noble mission.

So, we're only going to get people who are willing to make a sacrifice, but there's a limit to that willingness, and it's just a simple matter of economics that the more we can pay, the more applicants we can attract and the more judges we can retain.

We've lost some great people in our judiciary to private practice. I think this will only get worse if we don't see a significant pay raise. We're having a lot of difficulty attracting people because of -- in part because of what salaries have done. We've seen in some cases half the applicants we used to see. So, we hope you will see fit to give us a pay raise, provide money for a pay raise.

The Judicial and Elected Compensation Commission has graciously recommended a 10 percent pay increase. We're very appreciative of that, but I have to tell you: I think that to really move the needle in a significant way, it probably ought to be something more in the way of 15 to 20 percent range. I leave that to your wisdom.

Request No. 2, we need an additional juvenile court judge in the Fourth District. We have five judges doing the work, by our calculation, of 6.8 judges.

And we'd like you to fund an attorney to revise and create legal forms. We have thousands of users, many of them pro se, of the legal forms we provide. It's an important service that we provide.

We'd also like you to fund a domestic violence program coordinator. The importance of that is obvious.

We're also requesting funding for a tribal outreach coordinator.

And we'd like a coordinator for our online dispute resolution program.

We're also requesting funding for our software platforms.

And finally, we're asking for additional funding to lease additional space in Heber. We just have one courtroom there. We all know how much Wasatch County is growing; we'd like additional courtroom space.

Okay. Those are our requests. I recognize you may not be able to fund all of these, but I hope you'll see fit to come close.

Let me just conclude by saying thank you for your service. I know that you do it at considerable financial and time sacrifice. And I know you do it for Utah citizens. As a citizen, I thank you.

May you have a wonderfully productive session. Thank you.

JOINT CONVENTION

President J. Stuart Adams called the Joint Convention to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Brad R. Wilson, Speaker of the House.

President Adams announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Adams appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Evan Vickers, Ann Millner, and Luz Escamilla, and Representatives Mike Schultz, Jefferson Moss, and Angela Romero to notify Governor Spencer J. Cox that the 2023 General Session of the Sixty-Fifth Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State-of-the-State address.

President Adams acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Evan Vickers made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Cox’s State-of-the-State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Cox to the House rostrum.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR SPENCER J. COX

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Madame Lt. Governor and to Utah’s public servants and my fellow Utahns gathered here tonight: Welcome.

Since 1852, territorial and state governors have been delivering a State of the State message in Utah, but this is the first time that elected officials in the Legislature have been accompanied on the House floor by their children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews and other young family members.

Abby and I are joined this evening by our youngest daughter, Emma Kate. I will warn each of you that she received her Utah driver's license just a few weeks ago. Should any legislator within the sound of my voice tonight choose to run a bill changing the legal driving age to 21, I know a governor very interested in signing that bill. I did promise her I would try to limit the number of dad jokes.

In all seriousness, it is to this group of very special guests — the youth of our great state — that I wish to direct my remarks this evening.

We have much to cover in a short amount of time, and so I'll ask again like I did last year to please hold any applause until the end of the speech, no matter how difficult that may be.

I'd like to focus my remarks tonight on one well-worn line in our nation's Declaration of Independence. I hope you are all familiar with this foundational and revolutionary idea: that we are all endowed by our Creator with the unalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

In particular, I want to focus on that last right: the pursuit of happiness. You see, it isn't government's role to give you happiness, but it is government's job to protect your right to pursue it.

Unfortunately, researchers from the University of Chicago recently reported that for the first time since the survey began almost 50 years ago, more Americans reported being "not too happy" than "very happy."

Recent polling tells us that more young people than ever before believe that, for the first time in our nation's history, their generation will be worse off than their parents. Many people seem to be accepting it as a fact that any efforts to create a better world are futile, as if some sort of slouching towards mediocrity — or worse — is inevitable.

I know that many of the challenges of our day weigh heavily on your generation.

As hard as it is to believe, your moms and dads and grandparents seated next to you tonight were once young, too. I grew up in the '80s and '90s, and we worried about a lot of things you probably can't relate to:

We were hiding under our desks to practice for the nuclear bombs we were sure Communist Russia was sending our way — as if those desks would have provided any protection. We worried about overpopulation, acid rain, and — it's true — the Great Salt Lake destroying homes and businesses in the floods — yes, floods — of 1983.

We hung out at the 49th Street Galleria and the Delta Center — that's right, the Delta Center — and worried about someone scratching our brand new CD, the world shutting down thanks to Y2K, or accidentally calling long distance when it wasn't a night or a weekend.

But one thing scared us the most was something known as the hole in the ozone layer.

Due to our state's unique geography and demographics, we were told that the consequences of this environmental disaster would be especially dire in Utah. With a population of only 2 million people, one local newspaper reported that more than half of us, an estimated 1.2 million Utahns, would contract a life-changing cancer. Farmers and others who work outdoors were said to be especially at risk with one report warning that even sheep were likely to go blind (which, if you've ever spent much time around sheep, you know would have been hard to detect — right, Rep. Chew?).

We eventually found out that the culprit of the problem was chlorofluorocarbons, or CFCs, which at the time were found in many products such as aerosol cans — most notably, hairspray. Some people wondered why we had such great hair in the '80s. Well, my friends, we discovered that great hair comes at a great price.

Sometimes I miss those days, and I definitely miss that hair.

If you haven't heard much about the hole in the ozone lately, that's probably because we've been busy fixing it and good news doesn't seem to sell as well as gloom and doom. The world came together with the United States leading the way and our planet is restoring that critical part of our atmosphere.

While these particular issues and many others from my own childhood may not be familiar to each of you, there is a common root in all of them — fear.

A former U.S. president famously called fear the “nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance.”

Oh, and fear destroys happiness.

To every young person today grappling with fear, I want to speak to you. Whether it be fear of finding a good career or a home you can afford to buy. Or fear of a planet in peril, or attacks on democracy — at home or abroad, or the effects of inflation. Or fear of any of the other crazy things in our society today.

If there is one message that I could give to you, it is this: The future of our state is not written in the stars. It is for us, the free men and women of Utah, to dictate our destiny.

If I could turn your fears into one thing, it would be faith. I don't mean faith in the religious sense, although I am a proponent of that, too. I mean faith in good things to come. Faith in us and faith in yourselves. Faith in our capacity and commitment to solve today's hard problems together. Faith in a future worth being excited about.

To anyone who believes that the next generation in Utah will be worse off than their parents, my message is simple: not now, not on our watch.

Let me begin with the place where you spend most of your day: the classroom. To those in the room tonight who had the terrible once-in-a-century luck of attending school in the middle of a global pandemic, you proudly led Utah as the only state in the nation where middle school math and reading scores did not decrease during COVID-19. You have proven your resilience time and time again despite the unprecedented challenges you've had to face.

And you weren't alone. The data is clear. The largest variable in student outcomes is the quality of the teacher. I have said this many times, and I will say it again: If we ran an experiment with two identical students, and you let me pick the teacher, and I let you pick everything else: the school, the curriculum, the books, the software and electronics, the administration, I will win every time.

And if we want to guarantee that we have the best teachers, we must invest in our teachers.

That is why I am asking the Legislature to help me make this the "Year of the Teacher." Not only can we provide at least a 5% increase to the Weighted Pupil Unit, but we can also give every teacher the largest raise in our state's history.

And one more suggestion, if I may. A small "thank you" to your teachers goes a long way. A recent poll shows that nearly every Utah parent approves of their child's local school, with only 2% saying they view them "not at all favorably." But I worry that our teachers haven't felt that love from Utah's silent majority quite like they should. Teaching was once a destination profession and it can be again. Let's make Utah the state where the very best teachers want to live and work with our kids.

But even having the best teachers won't matter much if young people can't find an affordable place to live. In Utah, we want nothing more than for our kids and grandkids to live near us, but not necessarily with us.

Fortunately, this is a problem that we can solve.

I took an economics class when I was your age, and the one thing I remember is that when demand exceeds supply, prices go up. It really is that simple. If we want less expensive housing, we simply need more of it. And not just deeply affordable or low-income housing — although we certainly need that, too — but more of everything.

Sadly, we know that government decisions are one of the major drivers in the price of a home. Not just taxes and fees, but every requirement placed on a builder — including the time it takes to make those decisions — increases the cost of a home.

Tonight, I'm calling on us to change it. We can build more and do it in a way that does not diminish the quality of life. Smart density, in the right places, paired with improved infrastructure from wise investments, and a renewed emphasis on single-family starter homes — remember those? — will make certain that Utah does not become like California and that future generations will be able to call this state home.

That's why I am excited to work with Niko Fillmore's dad and Ruthie Whyte's dad, the League of Cities and Towns and other stakeholders on significant legislation to ensure that we increase supply and reduce the cost of housing.

Of course, even good jobs and good homes won't mean much if we are not good stewards of this beautiful place we get to call home. And any discussion of stewardship in a desert climate must start with water.

We find ourselves in the greatest drought in the western United States in over 1,200 years. Earlier this month, a report predicted that in just five short years the Great Salt Lake will completely disappear. Let me be absolutely clear. We are not going to let that happen.

Last year, your parents and grandparents in the Legislature passed 12 major water conservation bills and $500 million in new funding. And even more important, the people of Utah responded by saving billions of gallons of water in our time of need. I want to thank Ella Mauchley's grandpa and Zach Wilson's dad for their dedicated efforts on water legislation.

Now, you have heard me ask our fellow Utahns to unite in faith and prayer in asking God to help deliver us from drought. I have been mocked both at home and abroad by clever comedians and pundits in the media. But, as a man of faith, I make no excuses for my beliefs. I believe there is real power in people of all different faiths and backgrounds uniting together and pleading for help from a higher authority than our own.

I am grateful — and thank God every night — for the impressive amounts of snow we have received so far this season. Miraculously, the Great Salt Lake has already risen more than it did all last year!

A few months ago, before the first big storm, I asked my team to include $5 million in my budget proposal for flood mitigation. I didn't want to be the person to show up for a prayer meeting without my umbrella. It's too soon to know, but I sincerely hope we need that money.

So, whether you believe in God or karma or the whale at 9th and 9th, I ask again that we join together to ask for relief from this drought, all while "knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

You see, I believe that God CAN fill the lake. But if not, then we must.

We have to maintain a continued focus on water conservation and agriculture optimization. To that end, I am proposing another $500 million in water conservation investment in addition to new policy changes that will reduce our per capita use.

And, if I might ask, please look beyond those that would demonize our farmers. Our farmers and ranchers are the backbone of our nation and state. They do some of the most difficult work imaginable and deserve our respect. I promise they will be a huge part of the solution, just like you and me. Let's continue to help them modernize their operations so that we can both save water and increase food production.

When it comes to our well being as a state, one of the biggest challenges facing young people is the proliferation and danger of social media. The research is now proving what most of us instinctively already know — social media and focus-destroying apps are negatively affecting the mental health of us all, but especially our youth, in profound and debilitating ways.

Beginning in 2009, mental health issues among students exploded. Emergency room visits for self-harm by young people between the ages of 10–19 skyrocketed. For young women, the number more than doubled — and that was before the pandemic.

If these types of numbers were associated with any other disease, we would be focusing every resource and effort to fix what is broken. But somehow because it is technology related, we have done almost nothing as a country.

This is unacceptable. In Utah, we're done waiting for someone else to solve the problem. To the social media companies who have been reckless in protecting our youth, Utah parents are putting you on notice. If you insist on fighting us, be assured that we are more than ready for a fight and we will win. Or you can join us and be part of the solution.

With this in mind, I am pleased to announce that we are working closely with Tanner Teuscher's dad, Kapri Cullimore's dad and yes, even Landon McKell's dad on legislation that will prevent social media companies from collecting data from our kids, limit the use of cell phones in the classroom, and empower parents to reduce this toxic technology in our homes.

And speaking of our homes, it's been said that "good homes are still the best source of good humans," and I agree. Getting upstream of our biggest social issues and costs, inevitably starts with stronger families.

As you may remember, last year from this podium I proposed the creation of a new Office of Families. I am pleased to report back that the Office of Families is now operational with my talented, former opponent in the 2020 governor's race, Aimee Winder Newton, leading the charge.

In Utah, we haven't forgotten the simple truth that when families win, we all win —economically as well as socially.

There is no guesswork here. The data shows that married, family-connected Utahns earn more, produce more, save more, and contribute more than their counterparts. And young people who get at least a high school degree, get a job, marry and have kids — in that order — are far less likely to experience poverty than those who don't.

And yet, not every home is perfect. White picket fences are nice, but not always the norm. My administration's singular focus will be on the simple principle that, no matter the situation, every Utah child deserves a home filled with love and support. And I do mean every child.

Thanks to the leadership of my best friend and your first lady, Abby Cox, Utah is taking on a bold new goal. Over the coming weeks, you will hear the details of a significant plan to support current foster families and to recruit new families to open their homes and their hearts to Utah's most vulnerable children. We believe that with your help, Utah can be the first state in the nation to have no children waiting for a foster family.

Imagine that. Instead of children waiting for families, Utah will have families waiting for children — and a list of thousands of Utahns who will help those families with child care, meals, car rides and anything else they need to succeed.

And if Utah truly believes in supporting life, we must always show our commitment with more than words. That's why I am also proposing this session a first-of-its-kind tax credit for all children — the born and the unborn. We must also expand postpartum Medicaid coverage to 12 months.

And we have to do more to support victims of domestic violence and to reduce this insidious evil. I'm grateful to Maggie Hulse's aunt, my tenacious Lt. Governor, for her tireless work in this space. I also want to thank the parents of Benji Pierucci, Landon Weiler, Elyssa Ivory Anderson, Cio Cordero, and Sara Lisonbee for their indispensable work to prevent domestic violence. Please join me in supporting their legislation this year.

One of the most important ways we can support your families, especially during difficult economic times, is to return more of your tax dollars.

Over the past two years we've already had a record $300 million tax cut. We have more money in savings than ever before. We are one of the few states with a AAA bond rating and consistently recognized among the best managed and fiscally responsible states. And, thanks to the people of our great state, we have the best economy in the country, which means we can do even more.

My philosophy is simple. I believe that Utah families can spend this surplus better than we can. And so I am proposing an historic $1 billion in tax relief for Utah families. While almost all of the levers of inflation are outside our state's control, we can and must enable Utahns to keep more of their hard-earned dollars to combat the rising cost of living.

We can do all of these things while finding more ways to simply serve Utahns and make their quality of life better:

With your help, we can begin to implement a bold vision to build a statewide network of trails for Utahns of all ages and abilities.

We can do more to support skills-based learning for those who don't choose to pursue a college degree and freeze tuition costs for those who do.

We can fund more mental health resources and crisis interventions in our communities.

We can modernize our IT infrastructure to improve the service we provide our citizens.

And may we always remember that sometimes the best bill is one that doesn't pass at all.

I am confident that we will accomplish all of these objectives and many more during this legislative session if those of us in elected positions keep our eye single to our children and grandchildren.

Now, before we conclude, I want to return to that "pursuit of happiness" thing. I hope you're not surprised to learn that experts have determined that happiness can't be found chasing shiny objects like money, power, pleasure, and fame.

Instead, real happiness comes from four simple but profound pillars: faith, family, friends and work that serves others. It comes from finding real meaning in life, knowing why you are here and what you would die for.

There are so many of you who already understand this, but let me conclude tonight with just two brief examples.

A young man was working his evening shift at a soda shop when a customer's credit card was declined. Feeling an almost unexpected desire to help, he decided to pay for the large drink order with his own money — his entire wages for that shift — ensuring that he basically worked for free that night.

Well, his dad was understandably proud and shared his son's kind act with a few others. Soon, Good Samaritans all over the state began donating to this young man — almost $1,000 in all — because that's what we do in Utah.

Now, it would be a great story if it ended there, but it didn't. You see, this young man took that $1,000 and used it to buy gifts on an angel tree for kids in need. That's why I have faith in our state's future: because young people like Phin Biesinger, who is here tonight, will make it so.

Another young man in our state, just 25 years of age, recently achieved his lifelong dream of following in his father's footsteps and becoming a law enforcement officer. And while serving and protecting the people of Provo would be more than enough giving back for most people, he decided he could give even more.

Last Saturday, he was elected as the youngest member of the Utah House of Representatives. Welcome Rep. Clancy. Your dad would be proud.

To the older people in this room, remember that Utah is the youngest state in the nation and I think we'd benefit from, in a sense, acting our age.

For we must never forget the qualities of youth: "Not a time of life... but a state of mind, a temper of the will, a quality of imagination, a predominance of courage over timidity." We would all be better off being curious like the young people around us. Like my grandma who, at age 90, decided she wanted to learn how to paint. She painted this for me as a reminder of home. Today is her 94th birthday and I want to be young like her.

Legislative friends, remember that our time in these positions is often brief. Rather than spreading fear, let's build more and tear down less. Let's renew again our determination to focus on doing the big things, the hard things that matter. Let's "make no little plans. [For] they have no magic to stir men's blood and probably will not themselves be realized."

And, finally, to the young people who have joined us: I have an important and heartfelt request to make of you.

I, and your loved ones and the elected officials seated around you, are committed to doing our part to defend and protect your God-given right to freely pursue happiness.

But tonight, I am asking you — begging you — to embrace that pursuit. Unlike any generation before you.

While we can protect your right to pursue happiness, we can't do the pursuing for you, even if we wanted to. Your challenges are different from the ones we faced, but I believe that each of you is uniquely prepared to face these challenges.

So stand up a little straighter and feel free to smile a little bigger. We can do this.

In such a pursuit, I am confident that you will find happiness that is not some light or fleeting thing. You will find deep and lasting happiness that flows not just from freedom itself, but in rising to make good on your responsibilities. From meeting your rendezvous with destiny head on, as the baton of leadership in this state inevitably passes to you.

I truly believe that there has never been a better time in the history of the world to be alive than right now. And there has never been a better place to live than right here, in Utah.

Your future is brighter than ever because we have the power within us to make it so. I trust the people sitting next to you — and more importantly — I trust you.

I trust that you will turn from the fears that would paralyze and that you will keep the faith. I trust that you will show the world what it looks like to aggressively pursue real happiness in our modern world. I trust the State of our State — which has never been stronger than it is today — will one day reach even greater heights in your capable hands.

You've got this.

May God bless the great state of Utah and the young people that make it great. Thank you.

1. Page 2, Line 55 through Page 3, Line 58:

55 (5) If a local school board has actual or constructive knowledge that an employee is the 56 subject of an ongoing criminal investigation of crime related to an offense against a minor

57 described in Subsection 30-5a-103(10):

58 (a) the local school board shall place the employee on {-paid-} administrative leave, in accordance with Subsection
(5)(d) and while

2. Page 3, Lines 68 through 74:

68 (ii) the employee shall pay back all salary compensation that the employee received

69 during the paid administrative leave period described in Subsection
(5)(a) {- } ; and
(d) there is a rebuttable presumption that the administrative leave described in Subsection (5)(a) is paid leave, unless the local school board has established criteria regarding the circumstances under which the administrative leave may be unpaid leave.

70 {-(d)(i)-} (6) Nothing in this section restricts the power of a local school board to take

71 employment action against the employee beyond the action described in this Subsection (5)

72 while the employee is under criminal investigation, regardless of whether the employment

73 action is related to the basis for the criminal investigation, including termination for cause

74 based on:

Paige Stevens read the following communication:

WHEREAS, since the close of the 2023 General Session of the 65th Legislature of the State of Utah, certain matters have arisen which require immediate legislative attention; and

WHEREAS, Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Utah provides that the governor may, by proclamation, convene the Senate into Extraordinary Session.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Spencer J. Cox, Governor of the State of Utah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of the state of Utah, do by this Proclamation call the Senate only of the 65th Legislature of the State of Utah into the First Extraordinary Session at the Utah State Capitol in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 12th day of April 2023, at 8:00 a.m., for the following purpose:

For the Senate to consent to appointments made by the Governor to positions within state government of the state of Utah since the close of the 2023 General Session of the Legislature of the State of Utah.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF,
I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great
Seal of the state of Utah. Done at the Utah State Capitol in Salt Lake City, Utah, this 11th day

Phalin Flowers, Secretary of the Senate, read the following communication:

PROCLAMATION 2023-2S

WHEREAS, on June 6, 2023, United States Rep. Chris Stewart submitted an irrevocable letter of resignation to the governor stating that Rep. Stewart’s final day representing the Second Congressional District of Utah is Sept. 15, 2023;

WHEREAS, Article I, Section 2 of the United States Constitution states that “[w]hen vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies;”:

WHEREAS, Utah Code 20A-1-5-2.5 states that the governor may set a date for a primary special congressional election and a date for a general special congressional election that are different than the days specified in Utah Code 20A-1-5-2.5 (1)(a) if a governor calls a special session for the Legislature to appropriate money to hold the special elections;

WHEREAS, by proclamation of the governor, the primary special congressional election has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 5, 2023, and the general special congressional election has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 21, 2023;

WHEREAS, Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Utah provides that the Governor may, by proclamation, convene the Legislature into Special Session;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Spencer J. Cox, governor of the State of Utah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Utah Constitution and the laws of the State of Utah, do by this Proclamation call the Sixty–fifth Legislature of the State of Utah in a Second Special Session at the Utah State Capitol, in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 14th day of June 2023, at 4:00 p.m., for the following purposes:

1. to appropriate money to conduct the elections to be held on Tuesday Sept. 5, 2023, and Tuesday, Nov. 21, 2023;

2. to change the date of the 2023 municipal primary election from August 15, 2023, to Sept. 5, 2023;

3. to change the date of the 2023 municipal general election from Nov. 7, 2023, to Nov. 21, 2023;

4. to align canvassing deadlines for the Sept. 5, 2023, municipal primary election and the Nov. 21, 2023, municipal general election with the canvassing deadlines for the primary special congressional election and the general special congressional election;

5. to direct counties to conduct the 2023 municipal elections and the counties within the Second Congressional District of Utah to also conduct the special congressional elections;

6. to allow elections officers to accept and count ballots for the municipal primary elections and the primary special congressional election that are postmarked on or before Sept. 5, 2023;

7. to establish the deadline by which a voter may change the voter’s political party affiliation for the Sept. 5, 2023, primary special congressional election; and

8. the Senate consenting to appointments made by the Governor.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great
Seal of the state of Utah. Done
this 7th day of June 2023.

Spencer J. Cox
Governor
Deidre M. Henderson
Lieutenant Governor

CERTIFICATION

I, Deidre M. Henderson, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Utah, do hereby certify that the attached copy of the Proclamations issued on the 7th day of June, 2023 and signed by Governor Spencer J. Cox, is a true and correct copy of the original Proclamations calling the Sixty-fifth Legislature of the State of Utah into a Second Special Session at the Capitol Complex at Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 14th day of June, 2023, at 4:00 PM, for the purposes named in the Proclamation.

I further certify that the membership of the Utah State Senate has not changed from that of the 1st special session of the 65th Legislature.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF,
I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Utah this 14th day of June, 2023 at Salt Lake City, Utah.
DEIDRE M. HENDERSON
Lieutenant Governor

Roll Call – All Senators present except Senator McCay, excused.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Mr. President: May 4, 2023

Dr. Edward Redd, a member of the Compassionate Use Board has vacated his position and the Utah Department of Health and Human Services would like the Utah State Senate to consider voting to confirm Dr. Michael K. Chen as a new board member.

The purpose of this letter is to request the State Senate's immediate consideration of the confirmation of Dr. Michael K. Chen to the board.

Utah Code 26B-1-421 (1) establishes the qualifications for the Compassionate Use Board membership. They include registration as a qualified medical provider with the Department of Health and Human Services' Center for Medical Cannabis, knowledge about the medicinal use of cannabis, professional licensure in Utah as a physician, and board certification.

Dr. Michael K. Chen meets the requirements for licensure, board certification, and knowledge of medical cannabis as outlined in the Act. Dr. Michael K. Chen is a Family Medicine Physician and an Adjunct Instructor at the University of Utah. He received his medical degree from the University of Utah School of Medicine. He completed his residency at the Utah Valley Family Medicine Residency and served as co-chief resident in 2019. Dr. Michael K. Chen is board certified by the American Board of Family Medicine.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of Dr. Michael K. Chen as a Board appointee.

Tracy Gruber
Executive Director
Utah Department of Health and Human Services

Mr. President: May 4, 2023

Dr. Paige A. Patterson of the Compassionate Use Board has met her term limit and the Utah Department of Health and Human Services would like the Utah State Senate to consider voting to confirm Dr. Paige A. Patterson for a second term on the board.

The purpose of this letter is to request the State Senate's immediate consideration of the confirmation of Dr. Paige A. Patterson for a second term.

Utah Code 26B-1-421 (1) establishes the qualifications for the Compassionate Use Board membership. They include registration as a qualified medical provider with the Department of Health and Human Services' Center for Medical Cannabis, knowledge about the medicinal use of cannabis, professional licensure in Utah as a physician, and board certification.

Dr. Paige A. Patterson meets the requirements for licensure, board certification, and knowledge of medical cannabis as outlined in the Act. Dr. Paige A. Patterson is an Assistant Professor (clinical) in Internal Medicine and an Adjunct Instructor in Pediatric Palliative Care at the University of Utah.
