

Mental health is a growing public health priority and human rights imperative. According to the UN's mental health report, the estimated cost to the world economy from lost productivity due to mental health disorders is expected to reach $6 trillion by 2030. Yet, mental health continues to be consistently under-funded and under-treated. As the UN seeks to eradicate poverty and establish mental health and well-being, it must consider one of the widely established root causes of mental health disorders: reproductive loss — that is miscarriage, stillbirth and abortion. Not only are these harms documented in wide-ranging peer-reviewed global research but also in the sworn testimonies of more than 5000 women, and among the more than 20,000 calls received by Concepts of Truth's crisis helpline. Failing to recognize the significant mental health harms of reproductive loss hurts women and their loved ones, denies them a voice, and prolongs their grief. Concepts of Truth, Inc. provides mental health counseling and sexual health resources to help them heal and make informed choices for themselves and for future generations.
