ADVANCING HEALTH IN AMERICA

The American Hospital Association is the nation's most influential voice for hospitals and health systems and the field's staunchest advocate.

When COVID-19 created the worst public health crisis in more than a century we were out in front, securing billions of dollars of financial relief, easing regulatory burdens, and mobilizing resources to support you during an unprecedented crisis. Now, with the aftershocks of that crisis continuing to place enormous strain on hospital and health systems, we continue that work.

From representing your interests to Congress, federal agencies and the courts, to creating opportunities to strengthen operations, we are dedicated to serving you, just as you serve your patients and communities.

All day, every day.

Your organization is not currently a member of the American Hospital Association. Not only do we believe we provide real, concrete value that deserves your support, we also need to have your voice at our table to help shape the future of health care.

To find out how your organization can take advantage of all the many benefits of AHA membership, reach out to us at aha-help@aha.org.

Supporting the nation's strongest and most influential advocate for hospitals and health systems.

The AHA regularly represents the interests of the nation's hospitals and health systems at important Congressional hearings. We also hold regular briefings for media and Congressional staff to bring the voice of our members to influential DC audiences.

Up-to-the-minute notifications and insights on important breaking health policy news.

If it impacts hospitals, you'll hear about it first from the AHA. We're continuously issuing alerts to our members on breaking news related to health care delivery, whether it come from Congress, the Courts, policymakers or private business. A mobile app for AHA members puts all this information in the palm of your hand.

Opportunities to network and learn from peers who face similar issues.

The AHA sponsors four national meetings each year to gather hospitals and health systems to hear from the field's leading voices, including those from other AHA members, so that we can collaborate and learn. These include:

- AHA Rural Leadership Conference
- AHA Annual Membership Meeting
- Accelerating Health Equity Conference
- AHA Leadership Summit

STRENGTHENING THE HEALTH CARE WORKFORCE

STRATEGIES FOR NOW, NEAR AND FAR

Training and guidance to build stronger relationships with your lawmakers.

Regular Advocacy Action alerts provide guidance and instructions to support AHA member outreach to representatives on critical issues. Virtual Advocacy Days present an opportunity for members to learn about the current Congressional agenda and get briefed on key messages to share. The AHA also supports members for special visits to the Hill where they can meet in person with their legislators to share ideas and concerns.

Collaboratives that help you address challenges.

From infection prevention initiatives to suicide prevention and physician leadership skills, the AHA has tackled issues that impact our members by convening groups that collaborate to come up with solutions that can be shared across the field.

Educational resources that elevate performance throughout your organization.

In recent years the AHA has produced reports, toolkits, and virtual learning sessions that address topics including workforce, behavioral health integration, consumerism, cybersecurity, emergency preparedness, and much more.

Here's what your peers say about being a part of the AHA.

“ Fighting for the small things and the big things, the things that make us unique and the things that make us one. They've been fighting for them all. ”
