Course Description

Running a successful design firm requires a multitude of skills.

Design and technical talent are prerequisites,
and you'll also need some marketing, some management,
and financial savvy.

This is true regardless of firm size, location, or specialty.

Is all of that “leadership?”
Or is “leadership” something more?

Learning Objectives

Participants in this session will:

1. Consider “big truths” of design firm leadership.
2. Evaluate 7 skills that are important for design firm leaders.
3. Review different leadership styles that can be applied in design firms.
4. Study 4 proven techniques of leadership in design firms.

The Design Enterprise Cycle

Big Truths

LEADERSHIP...

- 1 Is necessary for the success of any complex enterprise.
- 2 Is not taught in design school, but leadership can be learned.
- 3 Requires knowledge, self confidence, and trust in others.
- 4 Is deliberate, not accidental.
- 5 Requires a team effort.

What Is Leadership?

Leadership is the ability to:

Understand both the big picture and the details

Set clear goals, objectives, strategies, and tactics

Delegate, putting the right people in the right places

Motivate people at multiple levels

Adjust as needed

Hold people accountable for their performance

Achieve results by inspiring and motivating others
