

A-One Parts Co., Ltd.

Shock absorber accessories, control arms, center bearing supports, etc.

Founded in 1989, A-One Parts Co., Ltd. is a specialized manufacturer of automotive suspension parts including shock absorber accessories, control arms, center bearing supports, steering parts, steering gear assemblies, and steering coupling and joints.

A-One's strong in-house manufacturing capability and outstanding quality-control procedures have made its products widely popular among customers in the U.S., Western Europe, and Australia. In recent years, sales have rapidly expanded into new markets in Eastern Europe, South America, and Africa.

The firm claims that it is fully capable of carrying out all of the processes needed to supply a product, from the receipt of a drawing or sample from a customer to the development of that drawing or sample into a high-quality product with strong cost and quality competitiveness.

The company's slogan is short but powerful: "Where there are cars, there are our parts."

Every employee constantly keeps that slogan in mind, creating strong and continuous momentum for the development and production of superior products.

A good reputation for high product quality, prompt delivery, reasonable prices, and convenient pre- and after-sales services has brought the company constant growth in global sales, gradually building it into a major player in the worldwide market

A-One maintains its headquarters in Taichung, central Taiwan, where its modern integrated factory, advanced management system, top-end equipment, and talented and experienced workers assure the best quality of every product that rolls off the production lines. Your inquiries are welcome, and will be responded to in the shortest possible time.
