

Residency

"Thanks for taking me out of math class."

- Quote from a student who was unwittingly using geometry to design a quilt pattern

The Perry County Council of the Arts Quilt Mural Trail is a loop of 29 8' x 8' painted quilts that are mounted on barns and buildings along Perry, Juniata, and Mifflin County roadways. Students from each of these counties participated in this arts-residency program.

Six years in the making, the Quilt Mural Trail is a symbol of cultural identity, community pride and artistic spirit, connecting the county to its rich history and folk art tradition. Under the mentorship of quilting artist-in-residence Denise Hoke, students participated in a cross-curricular initiative to create this Central Pennsylvania community project. Combining history, geometry and art, the students researched, designed and painted each quilt with great care and pride.

The Artist

Quilting artist Denise Hoke has spent more than 35 years studying with veteran Amish, Mennonite and modern journeymen quilters. Since 1978, she has maintained her own studio in Perry County and has been a residency and teaching artist with Perry County Council of the Arts (PCCA) for more than 10 years. She regularly participates in juried art and craft shows, selling her original quilts and wall hangings, and oversees hands-on community quilting projects at the Little Buffalo Festival and the Mifflin-Juniata Arts Festival.

In 1998, Denise was named PCCA Artist of the Year.
