

WOODBERRY FOREST SCHOOL

Summer Expedition Program

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Have you always wanted to go on a backcountry adventure? Does the opportunity to challenge yourself in the wilderness excite you? If so, the Summer Expedition Program might be for you!

The Summer Expedition Program is available to one third- or fourth-form student interested in making a positive leadership contribution to the outdoor education program at Woodberry Forest. Students do not need to have extensive experience with the outdoor education programs in order to apply.

The Summer Expedition Program has been an awesome, life-changing experience for Woodberry boys for over twenty years. If you're up for an adventure, submit an application this year!

ELIGIBILITY

Current third and fourth formers

PROPOSAL GUIDELINES

Applications are due by February 1. Interested students should contact Julia Hixson to confirm interest and then prepare a written proposal that:

- Outlines your idea in detail
- Describes why you have an interest in that idea
- Presents a carefully considered budget

SELECTION

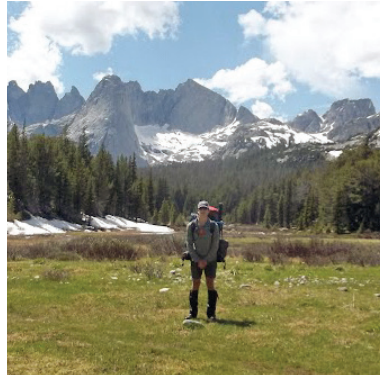

A faculty committee will review the entries and select the fellow.

COMPLETION

Upon completion of his program, each student must provide a detailed report and reflection on his experience, along with photos, for use in school publications and on the Woodberry website.

TILDEN WINSTON '17

Tilden went on a twenty-two day Outward Bound rock climbing and mountaineering trip where he explored the Gore Mountain Range in Colorado.

WYANT WHARTON '17

Wyant went on a thirty-day backpacking trek in Wyoming with the National Outdoor Leadership School. When the group wasn't hiking, Wyant especially enjoyed fly-fishing during his free time on the trip.
