Join VA Privacy Service and leading IT experts on August 11 for an interactive discussion about the future of online tracking technologies, HTTP cookies, and how they will impact the federal community and Veterans. Our speakers will provide perspectives on current policy and legal challenges with online tracking technologies, as well as changes in HTTP cookies and technologies used by tech giants. They will also discuss how recent guidance from the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) and other federal regulations will affect federal agency websites and online services.
