Steinway

New Steinway Hall, New York

THE Steinway piano enjoys a prestige among the musical instruments of the world that is unique in its scope and universal recognition.

It dominates the concert stage and lends distinction to the home through its individuality. It is the ideal piano of the master as well as of the lay music lover and its superb qualities make and keep it supreme among the pianos of the world.

There is no mistaking the Steinway tone and no duplicating it — except by Steinway workers under Steinway supervision and according to Steinway standards.

The representation of the Steinway brings to the dealer a distinction that is unique in the piano world.
