Q42. In some cities, there were videos and reports of police officers driving their cars into large crowds of protesters, using pepper spray on people with their hands up, and shooting rubber bullets into crowds of journalists. There was also an instance where police broke the windows of a stopped car, and used tasers on the male and female passengers, and then pulled them from the car, allegedly because it was past curfew. Thinking about these events, which comes closest to your view:
