Preface

The Internet is meant to be used for legitimate purposes but it also offers possibilities to exchange and publicise illegal material. Given the global nature of the Internet, and in order to successfully tackle such illegal content and take action, international approaches are required to guide and supplement national measures.

The objectives of the Association are to facilitate and promote the work of INHOPE Member Hotlines, whose work is to eradicate illegal content on the Internet.

INHOPE Member Hotlines provide a mechanism for receiving reports from the public, usually via web-interface or e-mail, and have effective transparent procedures for dealing with complaints. The members of INHOPE have the support of their national government, the online technology service provider industry, and law enforcement in the countries of operation.

In addition, members of INHOPE cooperate with other members in exchanging information about illegal content, share their expertise, make a commitment to maintain confidentiality and respect the procedures of other members.

Hotlines are an essential element to a coordinated response to the illegal and harmful use of the Internet as complaints are dealt with in an expeditious and effective manner both at the national and the international level, so that appropriate action can be taken in the country where illegal material originates from.

Transparency, confidentiality and trustworthiness form basic principles for successful cooperation and therefore should be applied in all operational matters.

The Code of Practice is a public document and will be of interest to all external stakeholders including national governments, EU Institutions, UN agencies, law enforcement & the judiciary, child welfare/rights groups, the online technology service provider industry, press and media, and Users.

INHOPE guidelines and its legal framework are not only laid down in this Code of Practice. They are also defined in the INHOPE Articles and Rules & Regulations, and INHOPE Best Practice Policy and Technical Background papers. These differ in the following ways:

- The INHOPE Articles and Rules & Regulations are more about how INHOPE as a corporate body operates; and
- INHOPE Best Practice Policy and Technical Background papers cover specific areas of hotline activities in-detail and in-depth.

This Code of Practice specifies minimum, general and preferred practices and concisely reflects the principles and standards, to which INHOPE Members aspire.

This Code of Practice benefits all members of INHOPE and represents a clear statement of expectations about how INHOPE Member Hotlines should operate individually and in relation to other INHOPE Member Hotlines. This Code of Practice also establishes and maintains common minimum standards for the good operation of an Internet hotline and the role and responsibilities of members of INHOPE. This Code of Practice shall publicly establish and protect the integrity of INHOPE and build confidence among external stakeholders.
