Power Your Migration with Comprehensive Hybrid IT Discovery

- Accelerate Your Migration to AWS
- Minimize application downtime due to unknown application dependencies
- Save money through accurate AWS sizing recommendations

Device42 is the most comprehensive, agentless discovery system for hybrid IT available today. Device42 continuously discovers and maps infrastructure and applications across data centers and cloud, providing accurate views of IT ecosystems. IT organizations utilize Device42 to safely accelerate cloud migration and infrastructure modernization.

While traditional discovery solutions have struggled to accurately and automatically capture the complete picture of existing infrastructures, Device42 offers the industry's most comprehensive agentless discovery tools. Device42 leaves nothing to chance, completely discovering the entirety of your existing infrastructure, including dependencies and resource usage details.

No matter if your organization is migrating to AWS for the first time or executing a long-running digital transformation initiative, Device42 understands that a successful modernization initiative requires a complete understanding of the current state of existing infrastructure. With Device42, cloud migration becomes simpler while also reducing risks and costs.

Discover Everything	Build an accurate map of your datacenter, produced and maintained automatically to deliver actionable insights.
Understand Application	Automatically creates "affinity groups"— which include everything the application needs to run. Detailed dependency information ensures all impacts are clearly understood so each step of your migration is perfectly planned.
Gather & Analyze Resource Utilization Data	Profiles the demands [CPU, RAM, etc.] that your current, running workloads place on existing servers and instances.
Match Candidates to Migration Targets	Device42 offers instance sizing suggestions, plus pricing info for right-sized target cloud instances.
