About the Global Tax Program

The Global Tax Program (GTP) is designed to provide a structured, specialized program for tax individual contributors to build both technical expertise within Tax and leadership skills.

Every year, a selected group of talented and highly motivated team members begins the Global Tax Program. Throughout the program, they engage in a variety of stimulating and challenging assignments, coursework, mentorship and networking.

Why top talent chooses Dell Technologies

We are committed to offering you a fulfilling career and a fulfilling life. Just as we push the boundaries of technology to support our customers, we want to push the boundaries to support our people. We are grounded in our drive to deliver technology and expertise that not only helps people succeed, but that pushes the realm of what is possible.

Program Curriculum

GTP consists of 4, six month semesters where participants partake in a structured training curriculum. The curriculum elements include activities such as formal learning opportunities, projects and case studies. These learnings provide core tax and business acumen, external perspective and human skills.
