All items of interest to any class of people, farmers, merchants, educators, or any other calling, are gladly received by us and regarded as favors, but a few words to those contributing such articles. In order to have our work printed correctly a clean plainly written manuscript is required. It is often our fortune (or misfortune) to have a poorly good article sent in to us, but so poorly written as to make it entirely out of the question to copy correctly. In such cases we are, in a degree, obliged to use our own judgment in supplying illegible words, and in nine cases out of ten fail to express the idea the writer intends to convey. Another difficulty is intending the manuscript, the lines are inter-lined for writing on, and the spaces between, for the extension of the capital and loop letters, and of course confusion occurs where words are written on the spaces. Now a few brief directions: 1st a plainly written manuscript; 2d, avoid interlining; 3d, correctly spelled words; 4th, if you wish to preserve a copy of your article write it before sending your contribution as we wish to preserve all items sent to us. When these directions are carefully attended to, we shall hold ourselves responsible for all errors and shall expect to receive your just censure for the same (should there be any) but till then, bear with us as patiently as we endeavor to with you.

EGYPTIAN AFFAIRS!

War Still Continues.

WEDNESDAY'S REPORT.

July 12.—The bombardment of yesterday closed at 6:30 p. m. for the day.

The earth works of the Egyptians proved quite effective against the heavy guns of the British and they displayed much bravery, the firing ceased.

The batteries remaining all perfectly shelled. A party of marines was landed to examine Fort Meks, where they found three and spiked six guns before returning to their ships. At 2 p. m. a flag of truce was run up over Alexandria which was recognized by Admiral Seymour. It was finally reported that it was evidently a trick to allow the Egyptians to gain time. "At 5 p. m. the Invincible fired a nine-inch shell at Fort Meks, flames breaking out immediately after, but no sign of life was apparent in the fort. Shortly afterward a white flag was again hoisted and was still flying at sunset.

THURSDAY JUNE 13.

This morning Lieut. Forsythe with a corps of marines were landed to reconnoiter.

THE CITY EVACUATED.

Lieut. Forsythe and all the marine escort have returned to the Invincible and reported. Lieut. Forsythe says the flags of truce hoisted over Alexandria were put up by Arabi's order for the purpose of deception, and that under their cover the city has been completely evacuated. The whole population, military and civil, has gone far into the interior. The followers of Arabi have taken up a strong position and are being recruited by thousands preparing to resist the British advance.

Before leaving Arabi liberated all the prisoners from the jails and the town surrendered itself to the mob who went about firing, plundering and committing atrocities.

Toward night a battery of galling guns were landed to harass the rear guard of the retreating army. It is now thought that the Egyptian loss can be placed at 1,600 killed and 2,000 wounded.

FRIDAY JULY 14th.

Admiral Seymour landed this morning and took possession of the Ras-El-Tin place and notified his government of his movement. He immediately set a body of marines to work clearing the streets.

A special cablegram at 9:30 a. m. states that Admiral Seymour is preparing to land 3,000 men to take entire possession of the city but after sending out some scouts he found Arabi strongly entrenched just outside the city with 9,000 to resist any such action on the part of the British. The Admiral has telegraphed to England for reinforcements which is momentarily expected.

Arabi's soldiers completely sacked the city and massacred every christian and European that could be found before leaving.

During the bombardment the city was fired which has already destroyed many valuable buildings and now is burning with increasing fury and rapidly spreading, and it appears as though it was doomed to utter destruction. It does not seem possible to prevent its entire reduction to ashes.

SATURDAY JULY 15th.

A dispatch stated that the fires have nearly all subsided, having exhausted about all their food. The loss of property has been great.

Marines after patrolling the city have reported finding the disfigured and burned corpses of 2,000 Europeans.

The Evening News gives the following dispatch: "The khedive, after consultation with Admiral Seymour, decided that it would be safer to return to the fleet in view of possible attack by Arabi's troops. The khedive then returned aboard one of the ships, guarded by 500 faithful troops. On his arrival he at once issued a proclamation advising the soldiers of Arabi to disband, and empowering the British marines to shoot down all rioters found on the streets. He calls on the people to return to the city, assuring them of British protection and stating that Arabi has but 4,000 disorganized soldiers and is unable to attack the city. No attention is paid to the proclamation by the people, on account of the khedive's flight."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY'S REPORT.

The dispatches of Saturday night and Sunday gives the following reports: The quarter containing the great grain and cotton stores escaped the conflagration.—Under the most favorable circumstances it will take 20 years to restore Alexandria.—Ten Arabs were publicly flogged by English sailors on Sunday for arson and pillage, and four others were shot for murder and one was strangled. Hundreds of persons are homeless and starving. The Alexandria grain market has been reopened to supply local consumption.

Corpses of slain Europeans, some of them women, are floating in the harbor. Alexandria was last night proclaimed under martial law. An attack was feared from Arabi's army Sunday night, and every thing was in readiness to meet the foe.

MONDAY'S DISPATCH.

"Alexandria, July 17.—The night passed quietly, with no attack by Arabi's forces. All reports from English sources regarding Arabi's strength and movements must be received with great caution. The English have sent out no scouts beyond Alexandria, and no reliable information of the status outside the city is possessed by any person in communication with the telegraph."

"Port Said is crowded with refugees, women, children and old men. The defenses from the entire region about Alexandria are flocking to Port Said. The people of Egypt appear to be

PREPARING FOR A GREAT WAR.

All strong men are leaving their families, and the old, the children and the women are moving towards the borders. The Arabs are flocking in to join the ranks of the fighters. A great number have joined Arabi's forces at Damietta, between Alexandria and Port Said. The forces of Arabi seem to be well disciplined and provided for fighting. Troops regularly marshaled may be seen drilling frequently. Strong earthworks are erected and great preparations are being made for a military movement of some kind, believed to be offensive.

TUESDAY JULY 18.

Seymour notifies the government that confidence is returning. He is urging the shop keepers to resume their business, and some of them are doing so. He has guaranteed them protection.

Congress has had so much wrangling to do this session that several important bills will have to go over until the December term. The bank rupt bill and determination of the result of presidential elections will have to be postponed to some more convenient session.

"Reports to the State Board of Health, Lansing, by 57 observers of diseases in different parts of the state, indicate that measles, typho-malarial fever, inflammation of the bowels, intermittent fever, whooping-cough, and puerperal fever has decreased in area of prevalence. There was no marked increase in any disease reported. Including reports by regular observers and others, diphtheria was reported present during the week ending July 1, and since, at 12 places; scarlet fever at 14 places; measles at 13 places, and small-pox at 4 places, as follows: At Detroit, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Flint.

We glean the following statistics from the Michigan Crop Report for the county of Genesee: The average yield of wheat per acre in 1881 was 19.50, the per cent ruined by insects, 0.2, the per cent of old wheat on hand 0.4, as estimated July 1st 1882. The condition of the corn is 87 per cent, oats 103 per cent, barley 100 per cent, clover meadows and pastures 91 per cent, timothy, meadows and pastures 100 per cent, and clover sowed this year 17 per cent, as compared with the condition of the same crops in July 1881. Apples promise 87 per cent of an average crop, and peaches about 45 of an average crop.

The report also shows that in the year 1881 there were 1,669,405 acres of wheat in the state, yielding 20,473,471 bushels. The number of acres (to be harvested this year) is 1,748,155 and the probable yield will be 31,420,834 bushels.

The South Carolina legislature, democratic, has completed a get-ry-mander of congressional districts that at dishonorable practices. The state is entitled to seven congressmen, and there being a republican majority of about thirty thousand in the state, on a fair count it was necessary to do some extraordinary work in apportioning the districts in order to prevent the republicans securing a majority of the members. The legislature was equal to the task, and so adjusted the districts that the democrats will carry six and the republicans one. To accomplish this, they were compelled to disregard county lines and group together those settlements which contain large numbers of colored voters. Such districting has never before been attempted and only a state-rights, Bourbon democrat would have been so lost to the sense of shame as to propose it.—Bay City Tribune.

The official vote of Iowa on the prohibitory amendment is, 154,851 for and 125,413 against, a majority of 29,438 for prohibition.

The statement that Giteaux's bones are bleaching on the roof of the Medical College at Washington preparatory to be placed in the museum, is absolutely false. The body has never been disturbed from its place of burial in the jail.

General Lew Wallace, who represents the American government at Constantinople, seems to have his hands full. The Sultan, in the disturbed condition of Egyptian affairs, turns to General Lew, as confidently as a sick baby appeals for sympathy to the tenderest of mothers,—[Flint Globe.

The forty-eighth congress will contain a pair of twins. Rollins A. Horn who was nominated by the republicans of the 18th district of Ohio is twin brother to the Hon. R. G. Horn of the 8th district of Michigan, who will be nominated by the republicans again this fall. Undoubtedly they will both be elected, as those districts give large republican majorities. They are the exact counterpart of each other in appearance and size.

The census of the farms of the United States has been collate L. The whole number in 1880 was 4,608,907. Of these 2,984,406 were occupied by owners, 322,357 were rented at fixed money rental and 702,244 were rented for shares of products; 4,532 farms were less than 3 acres, 134,889 above 4 acres and less than 10; 254,749 between 10 and 20 acres, 781,474 between 20 and 50, 1,932,910 between 50 and 100, 1,635,983 between 100 and 500, 73,972 between 500 and 1,000, and 28,578 were 1,000 acres in extent and upward.

The frightful answer which Arabi Pasha has made to the British bombardment will send a thrill of horror through the christian world. The volcano of moslem, hatred towards Europe and Europeans, upon which the christian population of Alexandria slumbered, had but a thin crust. The first shells from the English ships broke that crust, and it poured forth a flood of fire and blood upon the hated Giauor. It is appalling to think that while the English ships were placidly enjoying their first "practice," as the military critics called it, the fury of fanaticism was raging night and day in Alexandria, and the long borne wrongs of the natives were being revenged upon the innocent christian inhabitants in a butchery unparalleled for atrocity and thoroughness.

The thrill of horror in the christian world may be echoed in a thrill of joy throughout the whole of Islam, and the massacre of Alexandria may be the signal for an outbreak of Mussulman fanaticism and ferocity all over Africa and Asia.

If it be so, woe to Great Britain. She may have started a conflagration that will consume her from Calcutta to Malta, and against which her naval strength will be of no avail.

ORATION!
Delivered By Geo. Higgins, at The High School
Commencement, Jan. 29, 1882.

It has been five long years since I left my father's home, yet it seems but a few days. In point of time it is but a year, but to add five years to the physical and mental development of a young person must show a change in that individual the importance of which cannot be expressed in its results only by as much as the change of the seasons surpasses in importance that of the individual.

Progress is everywhere seen in the affairs of man; perfection only in the laws of nature. When we look at the early efforts of our race and see how each individual nation has to struggle for an existence, we are impressed again and again with the fact that there is a steady progress in the condition of man.

In the early history of Greece and Rome, for instance, we see a gradual progression in the evolution of their people. A nation, in the progress of its progress, of each successive generation, we see that they, as civilized nations, stood at the head of the known world.

The early inhabitants of Greece were, according to their legendary history, a sort of laborious and half-civilized race. They were from the first settlement of Greece, till within seven or eight hundred years before Christ, constantly involved in war and strife.

Up to the time of Homer, as has been seen in his poetical description, Greece was divided into a large number of small states, each under the despotic jurisdiction of a separate and hereditary king. And as has been the case in previous ages, the condition of common life was enslaved and degraded.

B. TURNER'S COLUMN.

One of the most valuable acquisitions to be obtained is good common sense. It is not to be found on the street corners, nor bought and sold in commerce; it is only obtainable by observation and careful and judicious thought, and should be applied to every transaction in life and especially so when we invest our money in the purchase of the common articles of consumption, and this embraces almost everything needful for us. It is especially useful in advertising. It is not good common sense to say I have the largest store in town, because the people would not believe it, and to say anything else concerning my business that would be equally bad sense, therefore it is only proper for me to say that I use the best sense I have in the purchase of everything I keep in stock, and I fix my price upon every article as low as the article is sold anywhere, and I think my customers will agree with me that my scale of prices is as low as the same can be bought for anywhere. I take special care to buy only pure manufactured goods that are to be used in our food. Hence my coffees from the lowest to the highest price are made of peabons, 10 c. 12 1/2 c. 15 c. 20 c. 22 c. and a pure Mocha for 35 c. My teas are very fine and will compare in quality and price with any in the country. And so with my whole stock of groceries, and it is reasonably extensive. My 5 and 10 cent grocery is a success, and a large acquisition will be made today during the coming week. I shall be on hand with a large and choice selection of wool and fur hats for the fall and winter trade. My summer goods will be closed out at low prices to make room for new goods, and in order to secure the advantages hereon offered please bring in your Butter and Eggs or your cash, and we will try to serve you as best we can. Don't be afraid of the small-pox, as there is not a single case in the town, nor has there been. All such reports and stories have emanated from mere supposition, and Flushing is still one of the most healthy and thriving towns in the state; and when the contagion sets the streets paved, the sidewalks built, and the railroad from Saginaw, then look out for the ears when the bull rings.

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!! MOTHERS!!!
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, but will tell you once that it will regulate the bowels and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cts a bottle.

HEADQUARTERS!—I would announce to the people of Flushing and vicinity that I have made arrangements with Mr. Barlow to sell his garden vegetables this season. Any one wishing anything in that line will find them at my restaurant opposite First National Bank Flushing. L. O. Jones.

Come Jew or gent, great or small,
Gentlemen large or gentlemen tall.
For one Boots and Shoes we here relate
Are good as any in the state.

So when you come to town to buy,
Remember we are handy by.
Bring your repairing, we do it quick,
And leave it to you if it isn't done slick.

Charges as moderate as any around,
Next door east of post-office we can be found.

For making to order fine sewed or kip
We make them to suit and warrant not to rip.

A Prevention and Cure
For ALL Diseases peculiar to Women.
WOMEN know that these diseases are, but do not always give proper attention to their symptoms, viz:
Headaches, Lassitude,
Pale or Mothy Complexion,
Sleeplessness, Palpitation,
Numbness, Nausea, Dizziness,
Dry Cough, Nervous Irritation, Weak and Lame Back,
and pains in various parts of the body.
Zoa-Phora is not a Cure-all. It applies to this special class of diseases. Here it is almost perfect.
Not a temporary Blood-purifier, but a permanent Cure.
TESTIMONIALS I have in abundance from persons in the best society, who prefer that their children be given Zoa-Phora as a "MOTHER'S" are your DAUGHTERS' ailing? Look well to the cause. Read my advice to mothers.
Requests for testimonials and advice will receive my careful attention.

TABLE ETIQUETTE.

Rules That Should Always Be Observed.

Numerous applications having been made asking us to fix a set of rules for table etiquette, we accordingly respond with pleasure.

1. It is proper to place your napkin so that the gravy may not fall on your shirt-front. When you are through you can ram it down between your shirts, and, if nobody is looking, you win a napkin.

2. On no consideration wipe your nose on your napkin. The table-cloth was made for this purpose.

3. It is not considered proper to place your butter on one side of the plate. If small plates are not provided, wipe your knife off on your head. What is left will do for hair oil.

4. Eat only with your fork. Never place your knife in your mouth. We knew a man who once cut his mouth around to where he parted his hair by violating this rule.

5. Never pour your tea into the saucer. It spoils it, and besides, somebody may steal it when you're not looking. Well-made tea is a very enervating drink, but most women make water, and very weak water at that, and it is additionally weakened by pouring it into the saucer.

6. If you get a piece of hot meat in your mouth, do not spit it in your plate. Take it in your hand and slide it down your neighbor's back. If he objects, punch him in the nose.

In sitting down on your chair make believe somebody has placed a pin on it. Then you can jump, yell and kick half the dishes off the table. This produces a very fine effect—you are pitted, and can eat your dinner in peace, as all the children are generally spanked and sent to bed for putting the pin where it wasn't.

7. Don't mistake the contents of the finger-glasses for lemonade unless you first put sugar in it.

8. If you get a mouthful of hot tea, squirt it through your teeth, and then tell the company that that's the way they sprinkle clothes in the Chinese laundries. They will then think that you have traveled—and probably wish that you may do so some more.

9. If it is warm, ask the prettiest young lady at the table if she sweats. Under no circumstances use the word "perspire." If she blushes tell her her face looks like a raw ham. This will make the rest of the people laugh, and you will save a dentist's bill.

10. If anybody gets off a joke, say: "That's as old as the butter." This will save the expense of a porter.

11. Ask the bald-headed man of the company if he was spun on his head for drinks when he was little. In the absence of a bald-headed man turn the attention of all present to the toothless old woman by telling her that you can get her a job in the postoffice gumming stamps, or in a drug store biting holes in porous plasters.

12. If your head itches, put on a troubled look, and scratch your head thoughtfully. If anybody asks you what you are thinking of, say BUGS; (in capital letters). This is sure to create a laugh.

13. When you pass a plate filled with meat, gravy and potatoes, drop it just as the other party reaches for it. Then apologize by saying you thought they "had their grip on it." Very funny effect.

Readers who carefully follow these rules will gain the respect of their fellow-men, and die happy—though perhaps very young.

THE DANGERS OF THE STOCK MARKET.—A man may be incredulous enough to risk his money in the fickle mysteries of a mercenary stock market, but when he gets the Itching Piles, he goes straight for Dr. Swayne's Ointment. Unlike the Bulls and Bears of the Stock Exchange, who clean you out of hard earned cash, it returns your money with interest, in the way of allaying the intense itching and insuring sweet repose.

To the citizens of Flushing and vicinity—Thomas Wolcott, of Flint city is prepared to fill orders by Telephone and send by stage, also farmers having cattle to sell will do well to consult us as to prices. We will pay the highest market price for Chickens, Turkeys, Pork, Mutton, and anything in our line.

If you want to buy a good wagon, call on Whiting & Richardson Flint Mich. Young lady, do not despair. Dr. E. C. West's Nerve and Brain Treatment removes the cause and effects a cure. Sold at W. G. Sprague & Co's.

THE RESULTS OF NECESSITY.—What the ancient suffered for the want of knowledge in medical science can only be appreciated by contrasting the vast amount of suffering cured and pain alleviated in modern times, by the use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases. Its introduction was characterized by the necessary withdrawal of a score or more of illusive, quack nostrums, whose evil effects have left living monuments to denounce them. Thus is exemplified the proverb, Necessity is the mother of Invention.

A Rare Offer.

The Golden Rule is a weekly nonsectarian, religious family paper, published in Boston, at two dollars a year, and is rated one of the best of its class.

No paper in the country can excel the Golden Rule in attractiveness and intrinsic value. It is the favorite family paper wherever introduced.

It has something for every member of the family, and is always pure, bright, helpful, entertaining, and preeminently reasonable. Whenever a fair trial has been given to the Golden Rule it has almost always secured a permanent subscriber. It is on this ground that a new departure is made in history of newspaper enterprise.

Read the following offer: To any reader of THE OBSERVER, not a subscriber to the Golden Rule, sending fifty cents or otherwise, the Golden Rule will be sent from the time the subscription is received to January 1, 1883.

Although this sum does not nearly cover the actual expense of the paper thus sent, we know that it will be a good investment in the end, as experience has shown that when the paper has once gained a foothold in a family, it is almost sure to become a constant guest.

Newspapers are like people; it takes time to get acquainted with them, but when once attachment is formed, it is hard to break.

Write at once, enclosing fifty cents, and mention THE OBSERVER. You are sure of four times your money's worth at least. Address, "The Golden Rule, Boston, Mass."

The publishers of THE OBSERVER cordially endorse all that is claimed above for the Golden Rule. We consider it a paper of rare merit, and our readers will do well to accept so generous an offer.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

Washington, May 26th, 1882.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF FLUSHING, in the Village of Flushing, County of Genesee, and State of Michigan, has complied with all the provisions of the Revised Statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of Banking.
