Time	Event	Location
7:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m.	Violence Against Women Act Annual Consultation Session According to section 903 of the Violence Against Women Act of 2005, the goal of this session is to engage in a government-to-government dialogue between the United States Government and the leaders from Indian tribal governments on how to best enhance the safety of Alaska Native and American Indian women from domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking.	Convention Center
9:00 a.m.–4:30 p.m. (Lunch break – on your own)	Indian Country Sex Offender Registration and Notification – Preconference Institute—11th National Indian Nations Conference Leslie Hagen , Senior Counsel, Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking (SMART), Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice On July 27, 2006, President Bush signed into law the Adam Walsh Child Protection and Safety Act of 2006. Title I of the Walsh Act is the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act (SORNA). This law significantly enhances the ability of law enforcement officials to respond to crimes against children and vulnerable adults and prevent sex offenders who have been released back into the community from victimizing other people. SORNA provides that certain federally recognized Indian Tribes are now included within the definition of registration jurisdiction. Currently, 197 eligible Tribes, as provided by SORNA, have timely filed a resolution stating their intention to create their own sex offender registry that complies with the Federal statute. These Tribes must be compliant with SORNA by July 27, 2009, or request an extension of the compliance deadline. Tribes failing to meet the deadline or unable to secure an extension face having the Attorney General take the registration function away from the Tribe and delegating the authority to the State. This preconference institute, sponsored by the SMART Office, will cover essential information for Tribes seeking to timely comply with SORNA's requirements. Topics to be covered include requirements for SORNA compliance, code development, cooperative agreements, memorandums of understanding, and the development of policies and procedures. This session will also include a demonstration of sex offender registry software that will be provided free of charge to each of the 197 Tribes that have elected to serve as a sex offender registration jurisdiction. This workshop will provide an overview of health research in Indian Country, including a brief history, challenges, and current efforts to enhance and strengthen AI/AN health research. The presenter will discuss current efforts led by the Office of Minority Health to improve Tribal input, participation, and ownership of AI/AN health research priorities and needs. The Indian Country Methamphetamine Initiative In a direct response to the 2006 Health and Human Services National and Regional Tribal Consultations sessions, the Office of Minority Health, in partnership with the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, initiated the Indian Country Methamphetamine Initiative (ICMI) to develop a holistic approach of prevention, intervention, treatment, and re-entry to address the public health and public safety impacts of methamphetamine. The ICMI project utilizes a multi-pronged approach designed to build capacity to effectively address substance use and mental health disorders and the related community harms; strengthen collaborations of different programs in Tribal communities whose populations are impacted by methamphetamine; and identify and document best practices in Indian Country for prevention, intervention, treatment, and recovery strategies for safe and healthy Tribal communities.	Smoketree C

4:00 p.m.–5:15 p.m.	Tribal Self-Governance: Partnering for Health Care in the 21st Century Tena L. Larney, Program Analyst, Office of Tribal Self-Governance, Indian Health Service Matthew Johnson, Policy Analyst, Office of Tribal Self-Governance, Indian Health Service M.L. (Susie) Guardipee, Acting Deputy Director/Financial Analyst, Office of Tribal Self-Governance, Indian Health Service Facilitator: Office of Tribal Self-Governance, Indian Health Services, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Tribal Self-Governance works. It creates opportunities for Tribes to exercise administratively their inherently sovereign powers, with minimal Federal oversight and involvement. To support the Indian Health Service Tribal Self-Governance activities, the Office of Tribal Self-Governance (OTSG) is committed to providing resources and technical assistance to Tribes and Tribal organizations for the implementation of Tribal Self-Governance. This workshop identifies key provisions of the law, explains the roles and responsibilities of the OTSG, and explores creative and innovative Tribal Self-Governance solutions to address the health care delivery challenges faced by Tribal governments. Information and an overview will be provided about Tribal Self-Governance funding opportunities ~ Tribal Self-Governance Planning and Negotiation Cooperative Agreements.	Smoketree D/E
4:00 p.m.–5:15 p.m.	The Law Enforcement National Data Exchange N-DEx Brian Stump, Liaison Specialist, Law Enforcement National Data Exchange (N-DEx), Federal Bureau of Investigation Facilitator: Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Department of Justice This session will be an overview of the N-DEx system and its capabilities. The purpose of N-DEx is to provide Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs) with a powerful new investigative tool to search, link, analyze, and share criminal justice information (e.g., incident and case reports) on a national basis. N-DEx will primarily benefit local law enforcement in their role as the first line of defense against crime and terrorism. This new tool will facilitate a network of collaboration in the law enforcement community. N-DEx will allow participating LEAs to detect relationships between people, places, things, and crime characteristics and to link information across jurisdictions. Law enforcement will be able to "connect the dots" between data points that are not apparently related and without reaching information overload. In addition, N-DEx will provide contact information and collaboration tools for LEAs that are working on cases of mutual interest.	Smoketree F
