

A cognitive business is a business that thinks

Pietro Leo¹

Abstract. The talk will start and go around this claim: “Could a business think?” and mainly explore what cognitive computing is starting to provide an added value as diverse industries. Main focus will be how cognitive computing is impacting financial services and how it could contribute to reshape that industry

¹ IBM. email: pietro_leo@it.ibm.com

